TO THE INHABITANTS OF PARRAMATTA and its vicinity, to the CONGREGATIONALISTS of NEW SOUTH WALES, and to all BENEVOLENT FRIENDS.

A violent storm or hurricane broke over Parramatta on Tuesday, January 2, doing great damage; amongst other casualties, the three principals of the roof of the New Congregational Church, which had recently been placed, were blown down and broken to pieces, some of the masonry displaced, and a quantity of cedar boards stacked for drying split into pieces and rendered useless.

The contractor, Mr. Peters, is an industrious deserving man, but utterly unable to sustain this loss. He has hitherto performed his contract with scrupulous fidelity, insomuch that the architect assured me he never had work more satisfactorily finished.

My own people are not able to meet this new difficulty. I, therefore, venture to appeal to a generous public who have so kindly assisted me in my undertaking.

It is estimated that nearly a hundred pounds will be required to repair damages. We were deficient in the amount required to finish the building about £600, and now an extra outlay will be required. I solicit help. The smallest contributions will be most thankfully received.

THOMAS S. FORSAITH.

PUBLIC COMPANIES.

P R O S P E C T U S of the PACTOLUS QUARTZ-MINING COMPANY (Limited).

CAPITAL:—£4000, in Shares of £1 each, of which 1300 fully paid up are reserved for the proprietors; 2s 6d per share to accompany applications, and the balance to be paid up in calls not exceeding 2s 6d per share per month.

The Company will be registered under the Limited Liability Act.

This Company is formed for the purpose of working two leases, of five and three acres respectively, in all eight acres, on the Macquarie River, near the "Root Hog Reef," and on the continuation of the famous Hawkins' Hill line of reefs.

The western or five-acre lease is on Sime's line (the "Welcome" reef), lately discovered, and is only separated by one claim from Sime and Co.'s, the prospectors' ground, that reef being two feet thick, carrying rich gold, and can be traced on the surface throughout the whole length of the "Pactolus" lease. Two tons of stone from near the surface on this ground some time since yielded 3 oz. of gold per ton at Macarthur's machine.

The Eastern or Three-acre Lease adjoins the above five acres, and includes the vein known as the "Old" Reef, the crushing from which was taken from a shaft about thirty feet from the north boundary of this ground gave 3 oz. to the ton.

The space on this ground between Sime's and the old reefs is about 280 feet in width, and is traversed by several veins, three having recently been discovered, one of them twelve inches thick, and others are expected to be struck when the ground is cross cut at a depth by the tunnel.

The whole of the land on this line for three miles has been taken up and is being vigorously worked—all experienced miners who have examined this line pronounce it to be the best prospect in this surprising district.

It is intended to work the ground by a tunnel from the river bank, which will cut Sime's reef at a depth of 360 feet, and the "Old" reef at 460 feet from the surface of the hill. This tunnel will lay in sight at least twelve years' continuous work, without counting several other reefs which are sure to be cut by the tunnel.

The natural advantages of the ground will enable it to be worked in the most economical manner, without necessity of sinking a shaft, with abundance of water close by in the river, and easy access to a crushing machine.

A report by J. J. Coates, Esq., C.E. and Mining Engineer, and also a plan of the grounds and section of the proposed workings, may be seen at this Office.

The following extracts from the HILL END TIMES of the 23rd December, refer to this company's ground:—

"The reef in the 'Welcome' is two feet thick and showing first-rate gold; indeed this is said to be, apart from Krohmann's and some others on Hawkins' Hill, the best property in the district, and the lucky owners can safely say 'our pile is made.' * * * * * * *

"We next visited two leases south of the above (i.e., 'Pactolus' leases) which we were told are now being formed into a company. The ground possesses all the advantages of Sime's and Cowlishaw's leases, the reefs being visible on the surface and showing gold freely. The ground is admirably situated for a tunnel, which would no doubt cut many payable reefs not at present known if driven near the level of the river." * * * * *

P R O S P E C T U S of the AUSTRALIAN MUTUAL FIRE INSURANCE SOCIETY

for Mutual Fire Insurance without Mutual Liability.
All the Profits belong to the Insurers.

PROVISIONAL DIRECTORS:
Hon. John Sutherland, M.L.A., Chairman.
M. F. Josephson, Esq. | William J. Day, Esq.
John Wetherill, Esq. | William Hezlet, Esq.
James Murphy, Esq. | Randolph Nott, Esq.
William Jarrett, Esq.

BANKERS:
The Bank of New South Wales.
SOLICITORS:
Messrs. Allen, Bowden, and Allen.
INTERIM SECRETARY:
James Henderson.
TEMPORARY OFFICES:
235, PITT-STREET, SYDNEY.

1. At a public meeting held in the Temperance Hall, Pitt-street, Sydney, on Monday, 11th December, 1871, after free discussion, and mature deliberation, it was unanimously resolved,—"That the above society should be formed and established as a general Mutual Fire Insurance Society;" and with a view to its speedy formation and establishment, it was then further unanimously resolved,—"That the foregoing provisional directory should co-operate in such formation and establishment."

2. The sole object of the society's projectors is to check the large Stream of insurance premiums now flowing out of the colony, whereby irreparable injury is sustained, and to turn the same, in the form of profits, into the pockets of the insurers themselves, ratably, according to their respective interests in the society.

3. The extent of the large sum now thus passing from the fire insurers may be estimated in some degree by the expensive staff necessarily employed by the fifteen foreign fire societies at present carrying on business in Sydney, with country agencies throughout the colony. Societies, upon failing to be productive of profit, are invariably discontinued; and the best evidence that the insurers can possibly possess of the satisfactory success of the fifteen foreign societies referred to, and their consequent injurious drain upon our insurers' resources, is their long and continued existence amongst us, during which insurers and the colony have been losing huge sums of money, which have been remitted by the various Foreign Branches to their respective Head Offices.

4. It will, therefore, be apparent that there is a very extensive and profitable field of operation for a colonial mutual fire insurance society under an energetic and economical management, the members of which to consist of the insurers of this colony, associated together to do their own business, thereby securing for their personal benefit a large proportion of the profits of the fifteen foreign societies, nothing short of which will enable insurers to occupy their legitimate positions as independent colonial insurers which a mere reduction in rates by those foreign societies will never accomplish.

5. As a bright example of the inestimable value of local mutual institutions, the particular attention of our Fire Insurers is specially directed to the Australian Mutual Provident Society, whose gross premiums up to July, 1870, amounted to no less a sum than £1,737,696, and its total invested capital to £693,492 2s 5d, which, under the foreign proprietary system, would have been swept from both insurers and the colony, and out of whose funds unprecedented profits have been paid to its members, thereby proving to be a great boon to the life insurers of this colony, as well as this southern hemisphere generally; and the society whose prospectus is now being laid before you will assume the same high position, with equally lofty objects in view, namely, protection against fire to insurers with their ratable share of all the profits realized by the society.

6. The projectors of the Australian Mutual Fire Insurance Society are proprietors of insurable property, who feel from experience that the exigencies of the times, such as reduction in rents, bad tenants, empty houses, insurance rates, repairs, &c., urgently demand the utmost economy, and are therefore convinced that, by becoming their own insurers, and receiving all the profits, they will not only considerably reduce their own expenses, but will thereby be contributors towards the permanent establishment of the insurers' own colonial society, which is destined to assume huge proportions, to take a high position amongst the institutions of the colony, and to confer a lasting boon upon our insurers generally, by keeping a very large sum of money in the country, and putting it, in the shape of profits, into the pockets of those who contribute it. With these praiseworthy objects in view, special care has been taken to secure the fullest protection to insurers at the smallest rates of premium, as well as the most rigid economy in management, with the largest possible profits to its insurers.

7. The simple and equitable principles upon which the society is based are mutual participation in the profits by all the insurers, with a subscribed capital of £50,000, consisting of shares of £1 each. The members subscribing such capital are styled "Original Members," and those merely insuring "Ordinary Members." The liability of original members is intended to be limited to the amount of their respective shares, and no liability shall attach to mere insurers in the society styled "Ordinary Members."

8. Of the capital, two shillings and sixpence per share will be paid up on application, which amount, with the large immediate income from business pledged and promised to the society, will constitute ample available capital for the society's purposes, as business of such a character only will be accepted by the directors as will leave small room for losses. Consequently, the society's receipts, less a small per-centage for working expenses, may almost be regarded as clear profit. A guaranteed eight per cent. per annum upon the paid-up capital will be paid every six months to the "original members" holding the society's share scrip, and upon the remainder subscribed, but not paid up; they will receive a ratable share of the profits, along with the "ordinary members" or insurers of the society, at the expiration of each official year.

9. There shall be five directors of the society, elected from time to time by the "original members" from among their own number.

10. The funds of the society, consisting of the paid-up capital and accumulation of premiums, shall be invested in Government or city debentures, or in real and approved securities, and, pending such investment, the same shall be deposited with the society's bankers.

11. The books of the society will close on the 31st day of January in each year, and the annual meeting will be held within sixty days thereafter, at which a report and balance sheet will be submitted.

12. The business of the society will be commenced as soon as £20,000 of the capital has been subscribed.

13. Application will be forthwith made for an Act to incorporate the society, and to limit the liability of the shareholders to the amount of their respective shares.

14. Applications for shares to be made to the Provisional Directors in the form annexed, accompanied by two shillings and sixpence per share, to the Secretary, at the Temporary Offices, 235, Pitt-street.

FORM OF APPLICATION FOR SHARES.
To the Provisional Directors of the Australian Mutual Fire Insurance Society.

I have to request that you allot me shares in the above society; for which I hand you herewith £ , being at the rate of two shillings and sixpence per share; and I hereby agree to accept the same, or any smaller number that may be allotted to me, and to sign the Deed of Settlement when requested to do so.

The objects for which this company is proposed to be formed are to purchase from the present owners the sections known as Nos. 7 and 8 Mount Perry, and the mining and working of those sections. The property consists of 240 acres.

The requirements of the Land Act have been complied with, and the Deeds of Grant from the Crown have been issued.

This mine is situated within half-a-mile west of the now famous Mount Perry Copper Mining Company's property, and the geological formation is apparently of the same character. The bearing of the lode is north and south, running parallel with the lode now being worked by that company.

As will appear from a report made by Mr. Thomas Hosking, Mining Captain of the Mount Perry Company, a large sum of money has already been expended in developing the mine, and in sinking several shafts of various depths. A valuable lode has been traced almost throughout the entire length of the sections and fine specimens of ore have been raised, consisting mostly of rich black oxide, some of which will yield a return of fully 40 per cent. of copper. An assay made at Melbourne of a small parcel showed a per centage of 49½ of cop, er.

The following are some particulars extracted from the report referred to:—

"At No. 1 shaft I found three tons of very rich copper ore lying on the surface. This shaft is twenty feet deep, with a good strong lode from the surface to the bottom, fifteen inches, with every appearance of widening as it goes down.

"The lode is plainly traceable to No. 2 shaft, a distance of a quarter of a mile, where the lode is strong and well defined. This shaft is down eight feet, and shows the lode eight inches wide, composed of green and blue carbonates of a very rich nature. Half a ton is now lying at the surface.

"No. 3 shaft is distant 400 yards from No. 2. This has been sunk to a depth of 25 feet, where the lode is one foot wide, consisting of grey sulphide and copper pyrites also very rich. 6 tons lie at the mouth of the shaft. To

"No. 4 is about 600 yards, where the lode shows 14 inches at a depth of 16 feet, carrying good walls, with the lode widening and increasing in richness as it goes down.

"Shaft No. 5 shows equally good indications at a depth of 15 feet.

"In No. 6 the lode has a most favourable appearance, being 2 feet wide, and composed of a splendid iron gossan. This shaft is situated close to the Northern boundary of the section, making a distance of a mile and a quarter, through which the lode is plainly traceable and well defined, producing payable copper at almost every point."

Since the above report was made, Mr. John Christoe, of the Burwood Smelting Works, Newcastle, New South Wales, has visited the mine, and has written the Provisional Directors as follows:—

Maryborough, December 4, 1871.
To the Directors of the Normanby Mining Company, Maryborough.

Gentlemen,—While on a visit to the Mount Perry mine during the past week, I took the opportunity of inspecting your two sections of land, Nos. 7 and 8, and your mining operations thereon, and I am happy in being able to say that I consider your prospects to be exceedingly good. In the deepest shaft you appear to have had a splendid lode from the surface to the bottom, ranging, say, from a foot to fifteen inches in thickness. The pile of ore at grass from the sinking of this shaft will fully yield an average per centage for copper of 25 per cent; but a large proportion of picked ore will yield at least 40 per cent.

In all other surface openings which I examined the lode appears to be equally as good as in the shaft; but of the lode on the adit level I cannot speak so highly. It appears to be here somewhat disordered; but I noticed that from the winze in the level you have raised some exceedingly rich black oxide of copper. I was sorry that I could not manage to get down the winze to examine the lode. I should advise that, for the present, you do nothing more in this level, but proceed some 30 or 40 feet lower down the hill, and there put in your adit; you will then prove the mine for a comparatively small cost to a considerable depth, and afford means for draining the mine. I have, in conclusion, to congratulate you in possessing such a valuable property, and beg to subscribe myself, Gentlemen,
Yours very truly,
JNO. CHRISTOE.

The Provisional Directors propose to erect machinery and smelting works on the ground; but, before doing so, deem it desirable to expend a sum not exceeding £5000 in further developing the mine, and, for that purpose, now offer to the public, for 5s each, 20,000 fully paid-up £1 shares.

Applications for these Shares, accompanied by a banker's receipt for 5s per share, must be sent to the Secretary, and, as soon as the shares are subscribed, the list will be closed, and a permanent Board of Directors will be elected.

Deposits of 5s per share being payment in full, will be received by the Bank of New South Wales, at their head office, in Sydney, or at their branches at Brisbane or Maryborough, by whom printed receipts will be given.

Should no allotment be made, the deposits will be returned without any deductions.

It is proposed to bring the Company under the provisions of the Companies Act of 1863, with limited liability, as soon after the allotment as possible.

Prospectus, with forms of application, together with copies of Captain Hosking's report before referred to, may be obtained from the Company's Bankers, Solicitor, or at the Company's Offices.

FORM OF APPLICATION.
To the Provisional Directors of the Normanby Copper Mining Company (Limited).

I have to request you will allot me shares in the above Company, and I hereby agree to accept the same, or any less number that may be allotted to me, and to sign the Memorandum and Articles of Association, when called upon to do so; and I hereby hand you a banker's receipt for £ , being the deposit of 5s. per share as per prospectus.

The Company possesses seventeen and a-half (17½) acres of ground on lease, situated on the Royal George Reef, near Green Swamp, about nine miles from Gulgong, and they offer part of their interest to the public, for the purpose of obtaining sufficient capital to fully develope the rich auriferous quartz reefs in the ground, and to purchase first-class quartz-crushing machinery.

A large amount of work has been done, in prospecting the reefs in the ground. There are five distinct reefs running through the lease, and the ground is full of rich auriferous quartz veins. Trial crushings have been made of quartz taken from the surface, and at various levels of the reefs to a depth of sixty (60) feet, giving most satisfactory returns, which proves beyond doubt that the reefs in this ground are highly auriferous and increase in richness from the surface downwards, and when opened to a greater depth by putting down main shafts, and fully developed by the application of more capital, will prove one of the best payable mines in the colony.

"C. ELOUIS.
"Messrs. Atkinson and Dean, Mudgee."

The original shareholders then tested the reefs in six distinct points, and crushed the quartz with a small machine of their own construction, giving the following highly satisfactory returns:—4½ tons quartz, surface stone, reef 2 feet 6 inches wide, 9 dwts. per ton; 2½ tons quartz, from 10 foot level, 13 dwts. per ton; 1 ton quartz, from 15 foot level, 1 oz. 5 dwts. per ton; 1½ tons quartz, from 20 foot level, 3 oz. 6 dwts. per ton; 2 tons 3 cwt. quartz, from 30 foot level, leader going down 4 oz. 8 dwts. per ton; 2 tons quartz, surface stone, from a reef 2 feet 4 inches wide, and which runs through the ground on the crown of the hill, 10 dwts. per ton. This machine being imperfect, fully 25 per cent. may safely be added to these returns had the stone been crushed by a good machine.

From several points of the ground tunnels can be put in, which would cut several of the auriferous veins at a very low depth from the surface, which is highly favourable to the future and permanent working of the mine. There is abundance of excellent timber for mining purposes to be obtained on the ground.

The original shareholders do not intend to dispose of any of their reserved interest in this valuable mining property, as splendid returns are expected. They are now raising rich quartz to wait crushing by the machinery which the Company purpose to erect, and they are confident of being able to pay a dividend out of the returns of the first crushing. They have a fine site for the erection of quartz-crushing machinery on the banks of the Mudgee River, having a frontage to permanent water, about one mile distant from their lease, and in addition to their own quartz, there will be a large amount of quartz to crush from the reefs in the district.

The Provisional Directors being desirous of giving an opportunity to local enterprise have reserved a number of shares for sale in Gulgong and the surrounding district, for which early application is necessary by persons desirous of having an interest in this genuine and valuable mining property. One of the best and safest investments ever placed before the public, and giving prospects of results that will not be surpassed by anything in the district. Subscribing shareholders are invited to inspect this bona fide auriferous mining property.

Application for shares to be made to the agents, Mr. WILLIAM SIPPEL and Mr. G. F. S. ROBERTS, temporary office at Messrs. Sippel, Brothers, Queen-street, Gulgong; and to Messrs. CHATFIELD and SON, 69, Pitt-street, Sydney; and to Mr. HENRY SIPPEL (Messrs. Sippel, Brothers), 526, George-street, Sydney, from whom prospectuses, forms of application, and every information can be obtained, and the gold-bearing quartz from the reefs seen.

Capital, £2000, in £1 Shares.

Of which 560 fully paid-up Shares are paid for the purchase to present proprietors, the remaining 1440 shares to be allotted on the following terms:—

One Shilling on application, One Shilling and Sixpence on allotment, and 2s 6d per share to be paid on second Monday of each month; and if not paid within one week from that date, the shares to be absolutely forfeited, together with all money paid and interest in the mine and property of the Company.

No Transfer of the paid-up Shares until the whole of the capital is paid up, or a dividend declared, unless agreed to at a general or special general meeting of shareholders.

Secretary—RICHARD PEEK, jun., Greville's Exchange, George-street, Sydney.

The ROSELLA COPPER MINE comprising forty acres on Brisbane Valley Creek, is geologically most favourably situated for productive mineral lodes, being slate near its junction with the granite. On the land there are four distinct parallel copper lodes, about sixty fathoms apart, all clearly traceable for a considerable distance, have been in fact traced for fully two miles; the bearing of all being the same, eight points west of north and east of south.

One only of these lodes has been opened, the most easterly, on which an underlay shaft seven feet by four feet, securely and properly timbered with box, has been sunk one hundred and thirty feet; for the first forty feet, the lode consisted of gossan, plentifully stained with green and blue carbonates, of which there were occasionally pure lumps, and also stones of grey ore; then the lode exhibited large quantities of Calc, Spar, Mundic and Quartz, with veins of Black Oxide, and rich yellow and grey ore, the walls well defined, between both of which and the lode, a flookan or casing mostly clay, one to three inches thick; at eighty feet, the lode between the walls was three feet six inches thick, and as the foot wall was going down straighter than the hanging wall, it was left, and the hanging wall only followed; at ninety feet by a cross cut the foot wall was seen, still perfect as before, going down at same angle, and still carrying the casing between it and the lode; here the lode was eight feet wide. At one hundred and thirty feet the lode is looking better than it ever has done, ore richer and more plentiful; the foot wall has not been seen at this depth, but it is believed the lode is over fifteen feet wide. As there are four distinct copper lodes on the land, only one of which has been opened, it is believed that a very large quantity of ore could be brought to market. It is not proposed to erect smelting works, but only to break, dress, and bag the ore, and send it to Sydney. The nearest railway station at present is Rydal, thirty-four miles distant, but shortly there will be a station within fifteen miles; and as all the ores in the district are rich, it is believed that the ores so disposed of will yield a very large profit.

The Company, in addition to the usual tools, have a good smithy; and having a large frontage to the creek, washing operations, if needed, could be conveniently carried out.

Further particulars and forms of application can be obtained from the Secretary.

THE "MONTE CHRISTO" GOLD MINING COMPANY, Hawkins Hill, Hill End, Tambaroora (Limited).

Capital, £15,000,
in 300 Shares of £50 each, paid up.

BANKERS:
The Australian Joint Stock Bank.
PROVISIONAL DIRECTORS:
T. J. Ryan, Esq., 187, Bourke-street
John Hourigan, Esq., William-street
C. J. Muller, Esq., George-street.

This company is formed to purchase and work one full half of that celebrated golden claim and mining plant known as Hurley and Moore's.

The area of this claim is 60 feet by 600, having in the underlie more than 1000 feet in depth with the full width of the claim to work upon, and all its parallel rich veins.

This claim pays immediate and large dividends.

This mine will last for years.

The golden results from this mine, its high character for golden stone, and the large amount yet to be worked, are acknowledged by all the rich adjoining claimholders there.

Byers and Co., adjoining on the south, crushed two tons a few days since, giving 450 oz.

A crushing of 100 tons will shortly take place from this mine, which will go 2000 oz., or 20 oz. to the ton; the company's interest in which will go for dividends.

The dividends in this company will be over 100 per cent.

This is not a progressive mine; it is a fact that the gold is there, ready to be taken out for dividends. The mine is well opened, and ready for stopping and getting stone rapidly.

It will be worthy of attention by intending shareholders that this mine is in full working order. There will be no calls or other expenses, but an immediate return upon investment.

It will be seen that this rich claim is bounded on the north by Messrs. Rawsthorne and Co., James Brown, Attwood and Co., Hickson and Beard, Criton, Beard, and Co., Holmes, Baxton, and Co.; on the south by Messrs. Byers Co., Krohman and Co.; Carl, Beard, and Co., Rapp and Co., Great Western Undaunted, King and Co., Hotson and Co., Johnston and Co., and Rose of England; and on the east by Vere's, Vickery's, and other claims.

The crushings from this claim have been as follows:—

CUSTOM HOUSE.—Entered Outwards, January 5.—City of Brisbane (s.), 504 tons, Captain Knight, for Brisbane; City of Hobart (s.), 562 tons, Captain Clinch, for Hobart Town; Hero (s.), 851 tons, Captain Logan, for Auckland; Lion, barque, 216 tons, Captain Howard, for New Caledonia; Sarah Pile, schooner, 113 tons, Captain Skinner, for S. S. Islands.

PERILOUS POSITION OF THE BARQUE JEANNIE LOUTTIT.—The following is an extract from a letter from Captain Murdoch, dated Shanghai, 3rd October, 1871:—"On leaving Sydney, on the 5th August, we had very fine settled weather, winds northwesterly, with a high barometer (30·24), till the night of the 8th, when the appearance of the weather began to assume a threatening aspect by the approach and increase of strong gales, much lightning, and high irregular sea, which reduced us to lower topsails and storm staysails; barometer had fallen from noon 30·8, till midnight 29·78. At 2.30 a.m., on the following morning (9th August), a most furious and terrific squall, accompanied by a deluge of rain, burst on our poor devoted barque, changing suddenly from N.N.W. to S.W., which threw our vessel on her beam ends, and completely buried her for the time being, the sea making a clean breach over her, rendering her completely helpless and dead, and to all appearance the same as waterlogged; and although we were prepared for the worst, as we imagined, by being very low canvas, still it was too much for her, and now it was too late to start anything, or do more. We fully expected to have had a clean sweep fore and aft, and had it lasted much longer this must inevitably have taken place, or we would have been necessitated to cut away. This state of affairs lasted nearly half an hour—to us a time of no little anxiety and suspense. However, the squall took off in its greatest severity, but left us a very heavy gale from the S.W., with a tremendous high and cross confused topping sea, which caused our ship to be very uneasy, and in considerable danger, so much so indeed, that although I had made up my mind what to do, I deemed it but prudent, as a matter of form, to consult with my officers, when, after due deliberation, we unanimously decided it would be advisable for the safety of the ship, as well as the interests of all concerned, to lighten her by throwing some of the cargo overboard, which we accordingly set about at once. At 4 a.m. the barometer stood at 29·73—no doubt it had been much lower during the squall, but this was the first time we had an opportunity of observing it, as we could not leave the deck before. I don't know if this gale had any of the revolving or cyclonic character about it, but if it had, and of any extent, it must have been felt at Sydney or Maitland, for we were then only about 300 miles to the N.E. by E. of Sydney at the time, and it must have been travelling from N.W. to the S.E."

The barque Woodbine, from Foo Chow, hauled alongside Parbury's Wharf yesterday morning to discharge a cargo of tea. Her hatches were taken off in the presence of Captain Donald, and the appearance of the cargo was highly satisfactory.

The Helen Macgregor (s.) crossed the Clarence River bar at 4.20 a.m. on Thursday, called at Newcastle to land passengers, and arrived in Sydney at 3.30 p.m. on Friday. Experienced fresh southerly winds to Smoky Cape, from thence variable and showery weather. Cargo: 500 cases meat, 230 bags maize, 300 bunches bananas, 10 bales wool, 12 hides, 2 cases eggs, and sundries. Passed the Lady Young (s.) fifteen miles south of the Clarence; the Helen, schooner, off Hat Head; Agnes Irving (s.) off Tacking Point, and the New England (s.) off Camden Head, all bound north.

The Southern Belle left Adelaide with easterly winds, which continued to Wilson's Promontory; since passing that point southerly weather has been experienced.

The City of Hobart (s.), after receiving the usual overhaul, arrived from Hobart Town yesterday. The reputation she has always held as being one of the speediest steamers in the colonies has been, if possible, increased by her present run from Hobart Town, which has been made in 58¼ hours, giving a mean of 11 knots, the fastest time on record. Captain Clinch reports leaving at 4.30 p.m. on the 2nd instant, passing Gabo Island at 3 a.m. on the 4th, and arriving alongside the Grafton Wharf at 3 a.m. yesterday. She carried moderate S. and S.W. winds to Twofold Bay, when she met with a strong N.E. breeze, which continued to her arrival in Sydney. The City leaves again on the 9th instant, taking with her our representatives in the forthcoming aquatic tournament.

The barque Norman having, as usual, had quick dispatch, will leave again for Levuka and the Fijian group this evening, and, being a remarkably fast vessel, will doubtless, as usual, make a fast passage across.

The Rangatira (s.) arrived at Twofold Bay at 5 p.m. on the 4th instant, and, after landing his Excellency the Governor, continued her voyage for Melbourne.

The Hero (s.) left Hobson's Bay at 6.50 p.m. on the 2nd instant, and anchored at Port Phillip Heads, as there was a heavy rip, and the night very dark and squally; cleared the Heads at 5.45 a.m. on the 3rd, and rounded Wilson's Promontory at 4 p.m. same day; passed Gabo Island at 9.33 a.m. on the 4th; entered Sydney Heads at 1.15 a.m. on the 5th, and arrived at the Grafton Wharf at 10 a.m.; experienced moderate S.S.E. winds with a heavy S.E. sea to Wilson's Promontory; from thence moderate S.E. wind to Cape Howe; and from thence light N.E. winds until arrival in port, and fine weather throughout.

A whaling barque, with single topsailyards, was in sight yesterday afternoon, from South Head, distant about twenty miles, apparently cutting in.

The Ballina (s.), left Grafton on the 3rd, at 8 a.m., crossed the bar (with the Enterprise (s.), in tow, for Sydney) at 6 a.m., on the 4th; passed Smoky Cape at 8 p.m., on same day, Port Stephens at 9.45 p.m. on the 5th, and entered Sydney Heads at 10.55 p.m. Experienced strong southerly winds to the Bellinger, thence to Seal Rocks light S.E., and southerly winds with dull cloudy weather; to Sydney, light north-east winds and fine. She brings the following cargo: 142 bags maize, 49 bales wool, 28 hides, 3 bales skins, 1 cask tallow, 31 hogsheads molasses, 8 boxes grapes, 3 coops fowls, 5 cases eggs, 41 bags oysters, 2 pigs, 14 packages sundries.

The Maitland (s.) did not arrive from the Hunter River until 9.30 p.m. yesterday, having been detained on the flats.

The Macedon (s.), for Melbourne, cleared the Heads at 1.30 p.m. yesterday, with a moderate favourable breeze.

SHIPS' SIDE-LIGHTS.—IMPORTANT TO MARINERS.

THE following is the substance of an opinion recently given by the Attorney-General, the Solicitor-General, and the Queen's Advocate, viz.:—

1. That side-lights and lanthorns, otherwise unexceptionable, fixed in such a position that they may be obscured by the lower corners of the ship's square foresail cannot be considered to be fixed as required by Article 3 of the Regulations.

2. In the event of such side-lights and lanthorns being so fixed that the lower corners of the square foresail can obscure either or both such lights, the surveyors or inspectors may require the master or owner of the ship either to move the lanthorns further forward, and to fix them where the lights cannot be obscured, or to cut off so much of the lower corners of her square foresail as causes or is likely to cause such obscuration.

3. In the event of such master or owner neglecting or refusing to alter the position of the lanthorns, or cut away such portion of her lower courses as the surveyor or inspector may direct, such surveyor or inspector may report the fact to the Collector of Customs for the purpose of stopping the ship, and such collector may refuse to grant the vessel a clearance, under section 30 of the Merchant Shipping Act Amendment Act, 1862, until he receives a report from the surveyor or inspector to the effect that his requirements have been complied with.

4. If, after a vessel has been passed by such surveyor or inspector as carrying properly constructed and fixed lanthorns and lights, the master fixes them in such a position that they may be or are obscured by the vessel's square foresail, and are not, under such circumstances, visible for a distance of two miles from right ahead to two points abaft the beam, on the respective sides, as required by Article 3, read in connection with Article 20 of the Regulations, such master will be guilty of a misdemeanour, under section 27 of the Merchant Shipping Act Amendment Act, 1862.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 6, 1872.

WE presume that most colonists who are outside the political ring will have heard with regret of the probable rupture of negotiations respecting the Border duty, and the threatened re-establishment of Custom-houses. The Premier Ministers have managed to involve themselves in a controversy which has become personal and acrimonious. The subject, which ought to have been debated with great coolness, and with a sincere wish on both sides to do only justice in a generous spirit, has led to recriminations involving the personal honour of the disputants. To save their personal honour, the mischief of the first quarrel has been prolonged. Each has come to think anything like concession a disgrace. Both have mingled with what should have been the unimpassioned language adapted to a financial adjustment the fervour of a polemical controversy. Thus the difficulty of coming to an understanding—of admitting an error or exaggeration—and of disregarding points which are perhaps necessary, not for the good of the colonies, but for the reputation of the diplomatists.

It is not necessary to recall the history of this negotiation, which will be fresh in the memory of our readers. We impute the misunderstanding in part to the mixing of pleasure and duty, of work and amusement. It is stated by one of the disputants that an important document was taken as read in order to abridge a meeting interfering with some delegate entertainment. The document was of much more importance to the colony than the dinner, and indeed the dispute as to its import and finality remains as a very important part of the general controversy.

The form in which the Border duty question was put in the last resolution of our Assembly will not commend itself to the judgment of impartial men. It appears extremely doubtful at what exact point between £60,000 and £100,000 an equitable arrangement might be made. We are not aware that any authentic statistics will guide either Government to an exact conclusion. Asseveration is not evidence; opinion is not proof. Mr. DUFFY may be right, or the Government of New South Wales. But no one can assure us that it is so in either case. Under these circumstances, was it not unreasonable to submit the question to two sets of weights and measures? Sir JAMES MARTIN alleges that Mr. DUFFY stated, that whatever might be the result of an investigation, the colony of Victoria would pay no more than £60,000. Sir JAMES MARTIN requires that the Victorian Government should pledge itself to pay £60,000 even though that sum should prove an excess. Can there be any propriety in such a system of adjustment. Does it seem an expression of real desire to agree? There were two courses open to the disputants—either to consent to a compromise implied in a definite sum, or to wait until the information required should be collected, which would justify a fixed payment as a matter of account. We ought not to break off negotiation so long as it is possible to arrive at either one or the other of these plans; and it is unfortunate for the country that its true interests should become involved in personal disputes.

The establishment of Border Custom-houses is to be deprecated for its prospective rather than its immediate consequences. There may be arrangements by which the pecuniary question will have less importance than some have imagined; but the increase of population, and the intercourse between the two countries, will constantly augment whatever irritation and difficulty may be occasioned. Custom-houses will be likely to promote smuggling among that class of persons who will be specially disposed to practise it, and who often will have the excuse of transferring small quantities of goods across the Border which, having been taken from broken packages, have already paid duty. Their worst effect, however, will be the creation of hostilities between two colonies which have many reasons for wishing each other well. We believe that it will be possible, probably easy, to establish Border Customs. Violent and sometimes puerile menaces may for the present be safely ignored. But everything in the colonies has the importance of the seed relative to the crop. The time may come when a great political party will back up an encroaching Government in making an offensive Customs' regulation a motive and a justification of local violence. How far temper will carry men we may easily see in the extreme difficulty found in preserving peace between great and kindred nations. There are two kinds of courage often requiring qualities of a very different sort. There is the courage of the pugilist and that of the bulldog. The man is considered to be something of a hero since he fights for a cause, and aims at the head. The bulldog is a mere brute which fastens on the throat. In settling the Border question, we want a nobler kind of courage—that which will disregard a sneer, and neglect an unmerited reproach, which will do right in spite of misrepresentation and obloquy, which will leave without fear a subtle adversary who has made a point to the disadvantage of one less keen, perhaps more honest in the glory of his achievement; content with the praise of seeking the public good even at the expense of wounded self-love. It will, however, be the duty of the Parliament to watch the measures threatened on both sides, and to interpose its authority in a decided manner to avert an acknowledged mischief. It will be its duty to give the Government the strongest support to which it can be entitled, if the Ministry of Victoria should display in their public conduct an insincerity equal to that which has been imputed to their private proceedings. It is equally the duty of the Parliament to prevent the Ministry from embarking in a senseless quarrel in which the country can have no possible concern.

While, however, we earnestly recommend for the general good an amicable adjustment, we should be greatly misunderstood if it were supposed that we are the partizans of Mr. DUFFY. The life-long habits of that gentleman have qualified him better to lead a political league than to administer a Government which has to harmonize conflicting interests, and to unite different communities composed of originally hostile races. The changes, however, which rapidly succeed each other in political life, lessen the importance of a troublesome idiosyncracy. The great interest of both colonies is to tide over a difficult crisis, to avoid as much as possible all extraneous matters of disputation, and especially to shun any step which might issue hereafter in prolonged irritation and aversion.

THOSE critics who, in their dislike of the new Land Bill, declare that the existing law requires no change, must surely forget that that law makes no provision for the acquisition of a freehold grazing farm. Whatever may be the future of this colony, it is for the present mainly a grazing country. Notwithstanding the admitted importance of the agricultural, the mineral, and the manufacturing interests, it is to pastoral products that we look principally for the annual supply of wealth; and notwithstanding the richness of some portions of our territory, there are larger portions which, so far as can be foreseen, will remain for an indefinite period devoted to grazing purposes.

This fact must be considered in connection with another fact, namely, that much pastoral land is susceptible of improvement—that by fencing, re-grassing, and the storage of water, it can be made to produce more food, and carry more stock; and that the annual increase of wealth for the employment of labour, and for further investment in the country, may be thereby augmented.

The consideration of these facts naturally suggests that it is to the interest of the country to stimulate such improvement, and to give to rural settlers the inducement that is found most potent to increase their activities and direct them in the right channel. But experience has shown that nothing checks improvement like a frail tenure, and that a lease practically terminable at any moment is a holding of a kind offering the least possible inducement for the investment of fixed capital. Many free selectors have taken out their grazing rights; yet how very few have spent a single shilling in improving the ground. It is obvious that they have but little inducement to do so while the land can be selected away from them at any moment. The big squatters are in this respect in much the same predicament as the little squatters, and if they have improved more it has been because, on the calculation of chances, they have thought that there was less risk of their being disturbed.

In earlier days, when the colony was only partially occupied, and when run-hunters were continually discovering new country, runs were often valued in proportion to their size; but experience has shown that a moderate run, thoroughly well-managed, and closely looked after, is really more productive than a property too large to be carefully managed. Some of the old grants have furnished an opportunity for freehold grazing farms, and it is on freeholds thus obtained that the greatest improvements have taken place, and that the fullest proof has been given of the extent to which the productiveness of the soil can be increased. But the acquisition of such estates is not now an easy matter. The law does not absolutely prohibit it, but it certainly does not encourage it. A number of contiguous sections may be put up to auction, but not till after survey, and not without the risk of any one of them being free selected prior to the day of auction. A Crown lessee may also improve any quantity of land to the extent of a pound per acre, and then purchase it at not less than the same price. Neither of these two processes is very tempting, and we do not know a single instance in which a good grazing farm has been acquired from the Crown under the present law.

Yet it is obvious that grazing farms ought to be obtainable. Young men with a moderate capital, and with a taste for rural pursuits ought to be able, in a country of a pastoral character, to acquire a block of several thousand acres. At present there is scarcely any medium between the agriculturist and the squatter. There is no proper gradation in our rural economy, and this want is a great defect. Younger sons and immigrant capitalists from Europe have not the scope for their energies. they might reasonably expect to find. They cannot purchase a good block of land which they could at once improve, and they are tempted to go to Queensland or New Zealand, where the acquisition of a pastoral freehold is more easy.

The doctrine has been propounded in substance, but not in direct form, that pastoral lands should not be sold but be kept under lease until the small freeholder requires them. But this proceeds on the assumption that agriculture is so steadily advancing as to require the land to be kept for it, which is opposed to facts and probabilities. Being pastoral, the best thing to be done with the bush land, is to make it as pastorally productive as possible; and if this is best done by allowing it to pass into freehold occupancy in blocks adapted to the size of the present condition of the industry, the country will gain by such a course. It will be following the line of natural development.

Hitherto squatters have not been precluded from buying bits of land, though they have been prevented from buying pastoral farms. They have been stimulated to an unhealthy degree to the purchase of scattered sections. It has been made their interest to pick out the eyes of the country—to get hold of commanding spots, and so, to some extent, damage the value of the national estate, without making good private estates. The run system has been kept up, while the run rental has dropped down. The land revenue has been fed on one side by squatters' purchases, but it has been damaged on the other by the constant fall in assessments. It would, obviously, be better, as Mr. ROBERTSON has pointed out, that a squatter should buy one good pastoral block on which he could concentrate his improvements, and which he could make a family property, than that he should be tempted to invest the same capital in a number of scattered sections, taken up only for the purpose of keeping other people out. A freehold grazing farm would be bought with a definite purpose of making a productive estate, but the pre-emptive purchases of the past ten years have been mainly made with the view of keeping the grazing status of the country as it is. Whether those purchases have been beneficial to the squatters is in many cases open to doubt, seeing that the reduced assessment is balanced by the interest on outlay. But even supposing a number of individual squatters have obtained a tighter grip of their runs, it is very doubtful indeed whether the colony as a whole has gained by the process. The same amount of money invested in compact properties would have done far more to stimulate improvements in the breed of stock, and would have given a healthy addition to our rural settlers. But it is never too late to mend, and such a change in the law as would enable a prosperous selector to grow gradually into a substantial grazier, or tempt a mammoth lessee to shrink into a modest freehold proprietor, would be a double gain.

CIVIL SERVANTS ON THE GOLD-FIELDS.—The Government Gazette, published yesterday, contains the following notice issued from the office of the Colonial Secretary, and bearing the signature of Mr. Robertson:—"Any employé of the Government on any gold-field who may in future deal in mining shares, or hold miners' rights or claims to mines on such gold-field, will be removed from the Public Service."

TASMANIA.—We have received Hobart Town journals to the 2nd January, but they contain no intelligence other than of local interest.

THE MELBOURNE UNIVERSITY CRICKETERS AND CREW.—These gentlemen were, on Thursday, entertained by their Sydney University friends at a picnic to the Lithgow Valley. The Government, with great kindness, allowed the party the use of a special train; and in the valley (which is the termination of the second or greater Zig Zag), Mr. Moody, the Traffic Manager, had kindly prepared a tent, in which the party took luncheon. The health of the Ministry and other toasts were proposed. Mr. Driver, M.L.A., and several gentlemen, accompanying the visitors from Melbourne, were among the party. The visitors appeared to admire highly the splendid scenery and the triumph of engineering skill which have been achieved. The train arrived in Sydney again about half-past 8 in the evening.

AN UNGRATEFUL GUEST.—An instance of the ingratitude sometimes exhibited by men who are treated with hospitality by strangers, was given in the case of John Johnson, who was sentenced by the Water Police Bench yesterday to nine months' imprisonment, for stealing several pairs of boots, the property of Thomas Barry, of Lower George-street. It appeared that Johnson arrived from England a few weeks ago, and was in the habit of visiting prosecutor's shop and reading the paper. He had also dined with Barry, and had his Christmas dinner with him. Prosecutor treated Johnson with so much confidence, that he frequently left him in the shop while he went for a bath. On one occasion, having noticed Johnson peeping through the glass-door of the shop, his suspicions were aroused, and he watched prisoner, who was seen next morning to take a pair of boots. He was given into the custody of sergeant Dwyer, and received a well merited sentence. Barry had missed a number of boots since Johnson commenced coming to the shop, but did not suspect him.

THE LONDON AND NEW SOUTH WALES PAPER FIBRE COMPANY.—Some years ago a Mr. Bryant, after having had considerable experience as a paper manufacturer both in England and France, emigrated to this colony, where he devoted his industry and capital to farming pursuits. His knowledge of agricultural matters being limited he eventually withdrew from that line of business for the purpose of turning to profitable account an important discovery which he had made. He at once took out a patent for the manufacture from corn-stalks and other similar substances, of what in the paper trade is technically known as "half-stuff," and the present company was formed to carry out the industry. An old flour-mill in West Maitland which was standing idle was taken, and the necessary alterations having been made in the machinery, work was vigorously proceeded with, and already ten tons of "half-stuff" have found their way to England. The price at first offered for it was £15 per ton, but it now realises £24, with every prospect of a further increase, for it has been suggested that the material is too good to be made into paper and may perhaps be used in some cases as a substitute for flax in the manufacture of linen; this, however, is not yet thoroughly ascertained. The process by which the stalks are converted into "half-stuff" is simple, although expensive machinery is necessary. They are first crushed between cogged wheels and then passed on to a large boiler, where they are subjected to the combined action of steam, hot water, and some chemical substance (the name of which is kept secret), the object of this operation being chiefly to get rid of the silica which exists in considerable quantities in the raw stalk. The hot mass is then removed to the mashing machine, where it is sent round and round between deeply-indented wheels, which make 200 revolutions per minute. At the conclusion of this operation, what were dry corn stalks are of course mere pulp, which is worked up by hand into boards and placed in a hydraulic press, by which a force of 1000 tons can if necessary be brought to bear upon it. It is then ready for shipment. The process of bleaching is not performed here, as the requisite chemicals are too expensive to make it worth while, and for the same reason white paper will not be manufactured at this mill. Hitherto nothing but "half-stuff" has been turned out, but a paper-making machine is in course of construction upon the premises, and in a few weeks the manufacture of "half-stuff" will be temporarily discontinued, and the material at once converted into brown paper. A small quantity of this last has already been made by hand, and appears to be a tough and serviceable article, much better adapted for packing purposes than ordinary brown paper. Several minor industries are also carried on by the company, who purchase rags, old rope, sacking, sails, and other things which have hitherto been thrown away as useless. The rope, of course, goes in with the cornstalks to make "half-stuff" and paper; the woollen rags are converted into flocks for the use of saddlers and upholsterers, while the linen and cotton rags are carefully sorted and sent to England, where the best qualities realise as much as £32 per ton. As a suggestion of what might be done in other parts of the colony in the matter of rags it may be mentioned that, during the last three months, no less than ten tons of linen and cotton rags have been sent from this mill to England. The paper trade is one of the small number in which the demand for raw material is enormously in excess of the supply. Ever since 1865, when the paper duty was repealed, the manufacture of paper has been increasing with wonderful rapidity, and grasses of various kinds have been substituted to a great extent for rags, the supply of which has proved utterly inadequate to meet the increased demand. Consequently, any addition to the list of materials from which it is possible to manufacture paper must be a boon not only to those immediately interested in that department of trade, but to the public at large. By the establishment of this mill a benefit has also accrued to the farmers of the district, who can now obtain 20s. per ton for an article which has hitherto been not only useless, but a positive incumbrance. In concluding this notice, it must be stated further that the whole of the machinery for the mill, with the exception of wire-cloths and felts, has been manufactured in the Hunter River district, under the personal superintendence of Mr. Bryant.

AN ELECTIONEERING ROW.—On Saturday last (a Gulgong journal relates), before Mr. Donaldson, J.P., Owen Hayes was fined 10s., or twenty-four hours' imprisonment, for assaulting Richard Clay. Mr. Parkes was attempting to address a very large number of people from the balcony of Self's Hotel. A few turbulent spirits by their uproar disturbed the harmony of the meeting. Hayes and his party were opposed to Mr. Parkes, and Clay was in his favour. While Hayes was bawling loudly against Mr. Parkes, Clay came alongside of him and roared out three cheers for Parkes, when Hayes turned suddenly and struck Clay a violent blow in the mouth. Had that blow been returned there would have been a general fight and the committee room, which had to be guarded by police, would have been taken by storm and all therein thrown over the verandah. Such was contemplated; but the police interfered, arrested Hayes and took him to the lock-up, whither he was followed by a large number of sympathisers.

MURDER OF MR. TURNBULL AT ESPIRITU SANTO.—Intelligence has been received by Messrs. Towns and Co. from Norfolk Island, by the Diahot schooner, that Mr. Thomas Turnbull, chief officer of the whaling barque Adventurer, had been killed by the natives at Espiritu Santo (N.H.). Mr. Turnbull, being well known among the islanders, went on shore with a boat's crew for the purpose of trading, and from some cause or other he was clubbed and killed.

FIRE.—A fire broke out shortly after three o'clock this morning in or near the premises occupied by Mr. Fitzgerald, coachbuilder, between Castlereagh-street and Pitt-street, and in a line obliquely between St. George's (Presbyterian) Church, and the Pitt-street (Congregational) Church. It burned at first with a fury which seemed to endanger the safety of the buildings last mentioned, but fortunately its progress was arrested, and the damage is confined to some small adjacent tenements. An alarm was given by Mr. and Mrs. Nicob, of Park-street. The fire-bell had not rung long before several engines were on the spot. Some trusses of hay, some articles of domestic furniture, and one or two burning buggies were brought out into the street, but it is probable that during the short time the fire raged a good deal of property was consumed.

SELECTED SEEDLING ORANGES.—Mr. James Pye has produced a beautiful high-class variety of fruit, which stands well in the market, by means of selection. It is a slow process, but is attended with the best results. If it should be generally followed, the coarse, poor-flavoured fruit will be as difficult to find as now is that which has the qualities of perfection. The sample—which may be seen in Messrs. Anderson, Hall, and Co.'s store, Pitt-street—is from trees eleven years old.

HIGHLAND GATHERING.—The young lady who took the prize for the "Highland Fling," at the Albert Ground, on New Year's Day, was not Miss King, but Miss Clara M. Spencer, who is only nine years of age, and is said to be a pupil of Miss E. King.

TURNER'S CHRISTMAS EXHIBITION OF PICTURES.—We have seen the interior of the Temperance Hall decorated in various forms, but never have its walls been hung with so much that is attractive and beautiful as on the occasion of the Christmas exhibition of pictures arranged by Mr. Turner, of Hunter-street, which closed last night. From all the available wall space oleographs and chromo-lithographs depended, and tables in the centre of the building were also furnished with pictures, the total number exhibited being nearly 250. They were chiefly copies of works by European artists of high repute, and we need hardly say have been greatly admired by all who visited the exhibition.

BOAT ACCIDENT OFF NAMBUCCRA HEADS.—Mr. Henry Hennessy has written to say that the paragraph copied from the Mackay Herald in reference to this matter, is incorrect in one or two particulars. He states that he was keeping the ship there to pick up a boat and sail—that the sea was not breaking heavily on the beach—and that the man who was taken to sea by the drawback could not have been in an exhausted state, seeing that he was able afterwards to walk eight miles in two hours.

TEMPERANCE MEETING.—The weekly meeting of the New South Wales Alliance for the Suppression of Intemperance was held on Wednesday evening last, in the Temperance Hall. Mr. Adelaide occupied the chair. Proceedings were commenced by the singing of a temperance melody. The meeting was addressed by Messrs. Thomson, Berry, and Jones. It was intimated by the secretary (Mr. John Osborne) that during the year just closed 700 persons had signed the pledge card of the Alliance.

SYDNEY ROWING CLUB.—At a meeting of the members of the Sydney Rowing Club, held yesterday afternoon, the following four crews were formed to compete in the four-oared gig race, which forms one of the events in the Anniversary Regatta programme:—Willis, Abbott, Robey, and Chard; G. Deloitte, Ruthven, Wiltshire, and Robertson; Anderson, J. Munro, Doyle, and Warren; Hay, Donovan, Cope, and Edwards.

QUEENSLAND COTTON.—The Brisbane Courier of the 30th ultimo contains the following:—A parcel of cotton ginned by Messrs. Strachan and Fryar, Loganholme, and shipped by Messrs. George Raff and Co., has been placed in the London market. By the mail just to hand, Messrs. Raff and Co. have received the following very satisfactory letter respecting it:—"London, October 26, 1871. Messrs. Redfern, Alexander, and Co. Dear Sirs,—Herewith we beg to hand you samples of your cotton which we had in public sale last Thursday. We would call your attention to the parcel marked 'Loganholme,' which by some process or other has been rendered in every respect superior to the general average of Australian cotton; the staple being much stronger and less cut in the ginning, and if the colour had been a little brighter it would doubtless have realised 10d.; as it was, the better portion fetched 9½d. per lb. DEVITT and HETT." We cannot say whether the Loganholme was the better growth or not, but anyhow it is a very desirable quality to import.

GEOGRAPHY GENERALISED.—A distinguished personage in this colony (says the Brisbane Colonist, a Queensland journal) is reported to have asked, "Where is East Moreton?" A great political luminary in the neighbouring colony of New South Wales seems to be ignorant of the geographical divisions of the world, and is not ashamed to display his "larning" prominently. In a despatch on the Fiji question submitted to Lord Belmore for transmission to the Imperial Government, Sir James Martin says—"The whole European population amounts to about 1500. How many of the Europeans are Americans it is impossible to say." Sir James is, we believe, a native of New South Wales, and has, apparently, not thought it necessary to pursue his geographical investigations beyond the borders of that colony. He, no doubt, is under the impression that outside of Australia the world is Europe.

A COURT-HOUSE ON THE DIGGINGS.—The new Court-house (says the Argus) was opened for business, for the first time, on Tuesday. It is a mere shed, entirely unfurnished. The desk for the Police Magistrate has an incline which reaches to his knees, and the affair is so inconvenient that the Justices will have to hold their inkbottles in one hand while they take notes with the other. There is no dock for the prisoner, no box for the witnesses, no table or chairs for the lawyers or their "fair" cherubs; no desk for the clerk; and no place for a water-bottle.

THE SCHOOL OF ARTS.—The entertainment at this place of amusement, combining so many excellent performances, each in itself attractive, has been well patronised during the past week. Last evening, Mr. Margetts' benefit took place, and a large audience testified to the popularity of that gentleman. As a comic singer, Mr. Margetts is humorous. In the delivery of his songs he dispenses with that vulgarity which is too often considered essential to the success of a comic vocalist, but which is nauseating to a select audience. Mr. Margetts received a flattering reception last night, and was as successful as usual in his songs, notably "Dame Europa's School," with which his name appears to have been identified for some time past. The song "That's where you make the mistake" was also loudly applauded and encored. Barry O'Neill appeared during the evening in several comic sketches, and was well received. Miss Florence Beresford and the Misses Dowtry also assisted in the vocal portion of the entertainment, adding materially to its success. The conjuring and astonishing acrobatic performances of the Japanese troupe, and Mr. Charles' clever panorama of the Franco-Prussian War were also included in the programme, so that nothing was wanting to make the entertainment a success. On Monday next, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Gill are announced to appear at the School of Arts.

GRAND MUSICAL FESTIVAL.—A musical festival on a scale hitherto unprecedented in Australia is announced to take place at the Exhibition building, on Monday evening. The success which attended the monster festivals at Birmingham and at the Crystal Palace, Sydenham, caused similar entertainments to find patrons in America, and now we are to have them tried at the Antipodes. The arrangements are very complete, for, in addition to having Madame States and the celebrated artists with whom she is associated, all the best available local talent has been engaged for the occasion. Miss Chambers has deferred her departure to take part in it, together with another excellent contralto—Mrs Cordner-Miles. Amongst the sopranos will be Miss Elwarde, whose singing at the Victoria Theatre has been so much admired. Mr. Andrew Fairfax, the best of Australian baritones, Mr. Wilkie, and others will also appear. The chorus will be composed of the Sydney Choral Society, under the direction of Herr Schmitt, and there will be three organists of undoubted talent—Mr. Packer, Mr. Hill, and Signor Giorza. The conductors will be Messrs. Packer, Hill, Cullen, Herr Schmitt, and Signor Giorza; and, in addition to the vocal and choral talent already mentioned, the Volunteer Band and a mammoth orchestra will take part in the performance. The programme consists of sacred music by Handel, and secular music by the best composers, including Auber, Handel, Verdi, Bellini, Gounod, Rossini, &c. Arrangements have been made for steamers and omnibuses to ply between the city and the suburbs, including Hunter's Hill and Manly Beach. It will be seen by the advertisement that the charge for admission and the accommodation have been suited to all classes.

EXHIBITION BUILDING.—Last evening, a complimentary benefit entertainment was given to Frank Barry, the wire-rope performer, in the Exhibition Building. About 400 persons were present. The first part of the programme consisted of a number of sentimental songs, which were sung very creditably by the Occidental Minstrels. Some comicalities, by Bones, Long, and others of the company, afforded amusement to the auditors. Frank Barry performed his wonderful wire-rope feats successfully. He safely crossed the wire three times, at an altitude of thirty feet; first on foot, then wheeling a barrow, and afterwards riding a bicycle, the barrow and bicycle having grooved wheels. The closing parts of the programme included a golden-shoe dance, a cornet solo, a violin solo, some miscellaneous songs, and the comic scene, "Who stole the chickens?" Dancing was afterwards continued for some time to the music of an excellent band.

THE VICTORIA THEATRE.—Mr. Walch has achieved a great success in his first pantomime, if the crowds which nightly attend this place of amusement are any criterion. Every one engaged in the cast is so perfect, and the piece runs so smoothly that it is finished by half-past 10. Author, scenic artist, manager, and company have all contributed to produce one of the best holiday pieces produced in this city.

THE PRINCE OF WALES OPERA HOUSE.—A liberal patronage has been accorded to the pantomime throughout the week, and satisfaction has been expressed by all who have witnessed the performances. What was originally the finale is now given as the transformation scene, and persons who wish to see the principal attraction of the piece are thus enabled to leave before the harlequinade if they wish to retire early.

CENTRAL POLICE COURT.

FRIDAY.

BEFORE the Mayor, and the Police Magistrate, with Messrs. Pinhey, G. Hill, S. Goold, and Smart.

Eight persons were fined in sums varying from 5s. to 20s., on conviction of having been found drunk or using obscene language in public places.

John M'Kinnon was charged, under the Vagrant Act, with having no lawful means of support. Constable Watson deposed that, between 10 and 11 o'clock this morning, he saw the prisoner sitting in Barrack-street, having evidently just recovered from a fit; has known him about eight weeks, and on seven previous occasions within that period has found him either in or recovering from a fit; he has at length become a nuisance, and this morning took him into custody as a person having no lawful means of support. In reply to questions from the Bench, the constable said that he has seen the prisoner knocking about the streets with his swag, and has apparently no way of getting a living; never heard him solicit alms but once, on his recovery from a fit; saw a gentleman put money into his hand. The man denied that he is a vagrant, but had come to Sydney solely for medical aid, in regard to the fits of which the constable gave evidence. Messrs. Pinhey and Goold said that the man was an object of pity, but certainly not of punishment, even though it should be true that he has no means of support, which has not been proved. It is not a criminal offence to be poor. Their Worships discharged the man, recommending him to the Police Magistrate as a fit person for admission to the Benevolent Asylum.

Margaret Cummings appeared before the Court with a child in her arms, to answer the complaint of Mary Tobin, that yesterday morning, she put her in bodily fear—coming up to, and looking over her fence, and saying, "You ——, I will settle you before night." A warrant was granted for defendant's apprehension, and she was apprehended between the hours of 11 and 12 at night. Ordered to enter into a recognizance, with two sureties, to keep the peace six months; or, in default of such sureties, to be imprisoned six months.

John Crowe was, on the 19th December, apprehended at Marengo, on a warrant from this Bench, charged with having neglected to support an illegitimate child, of which he was alleged to be the father; and, on the 20th, was remanded to Sydney. When the case was called on, no complainant appeared, and defendant was discharged.

Two prisoners were remanded, and other two were discharged.

On the summons paper were twenty cases, of which three were dismissed, one was postponed, and nine were not prosecuted. Joseph M'Kivett was fined 2s. 6d. for being drunk, and 10s. for using obscene language on Liverpool Road; and William Rigg was fined 5s. for being drunk and disorderly at the same time and place. David Ruddell was fined 10s. for allowing horses, his property, to stray on Newtown Road. Louisa Smith was fined 2s. 6d. on pleading guilty to an information by sub-inspector Taylor, for carrying liquor from a public-house after the hours for which the proprietor is licensed to sell. In Newton v. Newton, a proceeding under the Deserted Wives Act, an order was made directing the defendant to pay 30s. a week for his wife's maintenance, and to give security for twelve months' payments, and to pay, beside Court costs, £3 3s. for Mr. Roberts's professional costs. Mr. Cary conducted the defence.

LICENSING.—Permission was granted to remove the license of the Lord Rodney Hotel from Kent-street to a house in Wharf-street, Pyrmont.

WATER POLICE COURT.

FRIDAY.

BEFORE the Water Police Magistrate, and Messrs. Josephson, Loxton, and Hale.

Several persons pleaded guilty to being drunk, and were fined in the usual amount.

Edward Wraight, convicted of disorderly conduct on board the ship Parramatta, was ordered to pay a penalty of 20s., in default two days' imprisonment.

Ernest Park Bowler, charged with feloniously embezzling the sum of £2 17s. 4d., the property of William Richards, was remanded until the 11th instant.

John Johnson was charged on remand with stealing a pair of boots, valued at 8s. 6d., the property of Thomas Barry. Prisoner was given into the custody of sergeant Dwyer on the morning of the 2nd January, by prosecutor. He pleaded guilty, and was sentenced to three months' imprisonment, with hard labour. The same prisoner was then charged with stealing two pairs of boots, the property of Thomas Barry. Samuel Cantor deposed that he is a licensed pawnbroker, carrying on business in the city; on the 16th December prisoner pawned one of the two pairs of boots produced at his shop for 5s., and on the 29th of the same month pawned the second pair; he said the second pair belonged to a seaman who was very ill. Thomas Barry, a bootmaker, carrying on business in Lower George-street, deposed that he knew prisoner, who came from England a short time ago; he was in the habit of coming to his shop to read the paper; witness left him alone in the shop every morning while he went to the baths, and on Tuesday afternoon last he (witness) left the shop for a few minutes and saw prisoner come to the glass-door leading into the back room and peep through; that aroused witness's suspicions and he watched prisoner; next morning he saw him take a pair of boots off the back of the seat; witness had missed boots continually since prisoner had been in port, the boots were his (witness) property, and prisoner had no authority to dispose of them. Mr. Hale after remarking upon the ingratitude displayed by the accused in robbing prosecutor who had treated him with the greatest kindness, sentenced him to six months' imprisonment, with hard labour, to commence at the expiration of former sentence.

Isabella Kerr, brought up as a person of unsound mind, was sent to the Receiving House, Darlinghurst, for medical treatment.

Charles Clarke alias Charles Jones, charged, on remand from Newcastle, with being a deserter from the U. S. war ship St. Marys, was discharged, the vessel having left port.

Before Messrs. Neale and Charlton.

There were six cases on the summons sheet. The charge against Henry Connell for allowing the contents of a water-closet to soak from premises in William-street, was withdrawn on payment of costs. Ellen Quayle, charged by Samuel Richardson with assault, was fined 40s., with £1 1s. professional, and 5s. 10d. costs of Court. Mr. H. Driver for complainant. The remaining cases were postponed, withdrawn, or dismissed, with the exception of Thomas Qualey and Simon Kelly, who were fined for insulting language.

LICENSING BUSINESS.—Fifteen hawkers' licenses were granted, and one cattle slaughtering license. Several applications for publicans' licenses and transfers were disposed of.

VICTORIA RACING CLUB, MELBOURNE, NEW YEAR'S DAY MEETING.

[FROM OUR SPORTING CORRESPONDENT.]

THE Victoria Racing Club were favoured with splendid weather for their meeting on New Year's Day; and, although the other amusements provided were of the most multifarious description, and necessarily drew away a large portion of those who generally patronise the racecourse, the attendance was a large one, and numbered about 17,000. His Excellency the Governor, with several members of his family, drove up the course in a carriage and four, shortly before the first race, and, being met by the stewards, was escorted to the viceregal corner of the stand, and remained on the ground till after the last race, apparently enjoying the sports as keenly as a regular turfite. The grand stand and lawn were filled with a most fashionable audience, and presented an array of beauty and fashion not to be surpassed south of the line. The railway received the most patronage as a means of transit to the course, and as usual, we availed ourselves of this mode of locomotion, arriving about an hour before the first event of the day came off. The scratching-board showed a great falling off in the fields for several of the races, but as they are noticed below it is needless to recapitulate them here. Mr. Hind was early at his post, and punctual to time, the bell warned the jocks for the Hurdle Race that it was time to weigh. Only six went to the post, Hotspur and Darkie being the most noticeable absentees. Royston, at the last moment, was made the favourite, but all the others, with the exception of Maid of the Mist, were strongly supported at short prices. Miss Constance could hardly be kept back to her horses for the first mile, but then she hurt her stifles jumping one of the hurdles, and was out of the race. Royston and Middy Ashore then made most of the running, closely waited upon by Fair Nell, who "came" about three furlongs from home and thence won quite as easily as at Ballarat. Moscow got up at the finish, and deprived Middy Ashore of second place, Royston having previously been eased off. The Ace was the only absentee for the Three-year-old Handicap, but Irish King might just as well have remained at home, as he was in no condition, and besides bolted at the first turn. Wildbriar, Fairy, and Jack Sprat were all well supported for this race, the two Victorians having rather the call, which was not justified by the result, as little Jack, with only 6 st. 10 lbs. on him, had them all safe at the last turn, and galloped home an easy winner in the most hollow style. Great interest was taken in the next event, the Two-year-old Stakes, and many preferred going without their luncheon to missing seeing the youngsters undergoing their toilettes. Although there were originally twenty-three nominations for this race, the number at the post dwindled down to six starters, Argus Scandal and Sunshine being amongst the absentees. However, the want of quantity was amply made up for by the quality of the candidates. The honours of favouritism were about equally divided between the representatives of the Maribyrnong and Woodstock studs, King of the Ring and Capulet, the two Sydney-bred colts, Blue Devils and Hercules, being next in demand. Four finer youngsters than these could not be seen anywhere, and all stripped well, but neither Mozzel nor Hesperus were in any condition to show what they really were made of. The result leaves it still an open question as to which is the best two-year-old out. As Argus Scandal in the spring showed that he was better than King of the Ring, and the latter lost a great deal of ground, through not getting into full swing soon enough, and after all was only beaten by a short head. On the other hand, however, there is more room for improvement in both Hercules and Blue Devils, and this was their first appearance. The last named also lost two or three lengths by missing his footing after going about a furlong. Capulet did not run up to her private form, and only showed the uselessness of trials. However, she is a grand filly, and in another year will be better still. Hercules, it will be remembered, was purchased by Mr. Yuille, for the late Mr. Thomas Austin, at the annual sale of yearlings held after the last autumn meeting at Randwick. The same gentleman also purchasing his dam, with her foal, for Mr. Petty. Yattendon may now be said to have fairly made his mark at the stud. Javelin and Hercules being a credit to any horse. However, I am afraid the latter will give his trainer some trouble by and bye, as he is strongly inclined to be curby hocked. It was a matter of regret that Mr. Austin should not have lived to see the victory of his colt, especially as he had only just returned to the favourite spot of his earlier years. It is a strange coincidence, but this is the second big race that Lang has won for a deceased employer, and it was really time that he had a turn, for with a large stable this is the only stake worth speaking of that he has carried off this season. Thirteen started for the Midsummer Handicap, wich resulted in an easy win for Valentine. All three of Mr. Tait's horses ran well all through, but Albany deprived Detective of second place. Darkie showed that he was not drawn from the Hurdle Race without reason, as he easily appropriated the Steeplechase, there being nothing left to race him at the finish; Babbler and Mailboy were the only others that got round without a mishap, the only accident befalling Denis Callanan, who broke his collar bone, but is now going on all right. Contessa beat old Warrior for the Canterbury Stakes owing to her exceeding gameness; but she did not get the stakes, as her jockey lost his stirrup leather and iron coming up the straight, and consequently was found 5½ lbs. short on coming to scale. Kingfisher did not perform as well as expected, but he would have done better if his rider had not fought with him all the way. Even money was laid on Valentine for the £100 Plate, and he justified the confidence of his friends by winning easily, and was bought in after the race for £250, £150 to the Club. This brought the day's racing to a conclusion; and the following is a more particular account of the running from the Daily Telegraph:—

Hurdle Race, a sweepstakes of 5 sovereigns each, half forfeit, with 100 sovereigns added. About three miles.

J. Martin's b g Squatter, aged, 8 st, dr
C. Clarke's b g Ben Bolt, aged, 8 st, dr

Betting: 5 to 2 against Royston, 3 to 1 each against Moscow and Miss Constance, 4 to 1 each against Middy Ashore and Fair Nell.

They got away to a good start, Maid of the Mist, followed by Middy Ashore and Miss Constance, showing the way over the first hurdle, Moscow and Royston running in the rear going past the old punt. Miss Constance momentarily showed in the front, but before reaching the Abattoirs she fell back last. Middy Ashore, with Fair Nell in close attendance, led down the training ground, but just before reaching the turn into the straight some mistake seemed to occur by which Royston got the lead. The stand was passed in the following order—Middy Ashore, Royston, Fair Nell, Moscow, Maid of the Mist, Miss Constance, the two last-named quite out of the race. The same order was kept along the river, and at the back Fair Nell got in front, but before reaching the Abattoirs was repassed by Royston, who led down the training ground. Before entering the straight, Fair Nell came again, and soon having the others in difficulties, ran home an easy winner by four lengths. Moscow came at the last hurdle, and passing the tiring Middy Ashore secured second place by half-a-dozen lengths. Time, 6 minutes 4 seconds.

Three-year-old Handicap, of 10 sovereigns each, half forfeit, with 100 sovereigns added. One mile and a half.

Mr. J. Brown's br g Jack Sprat, by Lord of the Hills, 6 st 12 lbs (Clarke)	1
Filgate's br f Wildbriar, 7 st (Grubb)	2
J. Arthur's b f Fairy, 7 st 2 lb (Day)	3
J. J. Miller's ch c Irish King, 7 st 13 lbs (Haughey)
J. C. King's b c Woodbine, 7 st 5 lbs (W. Enderson)
J. T. Ryan's b c The Ace, 8 st 4 lbs, dr.

Betting: 2 to 1 each against Fairy and Wild Briar, 5 to 2 against Jack Sprat.

The start was a bad one, as Wildbriar hung at the post and lost several lengths. Irish King was the first to make play, but soon resigned to Fairy, and at the turn bolted. Going along the river Fairy had established a lead of two lengths, the other three in a cluster. At the back they all got together, Wildbriar showing slightly in front as they passed the Abattoirs. At the half-mile post Jack Sprat came through, and soon settled the pretensions of the others, winning in a common canter by a dozen lengths. Wildbriar passed Fairy in the run home, and finished second, twenty lengths in front of Lang's filly. Time, 2 minutes 51 seconds.

Two-Year Old Stakes, of 20 sovereigns each, h. ft., with 200 sovereigns added. Colts, 8 st 10 lbs; fillies, 8 st 5 lbs. Five furlongs.

James Wilson's b c Belphegor, by Ace of Clubs, Musidora, dr.
F. Lewis's b or br f Queen Mary, by Fishhook, Rosamond, dead.

Betting: 6 to 4 each against Capulet and King of the Ring, 4 to 1 against Blue Devils, 5 to 1 against Hercules.

Hercules and King of the Ring were first away, but the latter did not fairly settle down to his work, and was soon passed by Blue Devils and Capulet. Just before getting into the course Blue Devils missed his footing and lost a couple of lengths, but soon made it up again, and at the distance was third. Hercules continued in the lead, hotly pressed by Capulet and Blue Devils in turn. Half-way up, King of the Ring came with a rush, and catching Hercules every stride, a good race between them ended in favour of the Yattendon colt by a head, Blue Devils a good third, and Capulet fourth. Time, 1 minute 7 seconds.

S. Mahon's b m Shadow, 4 years, 6 st, dr
Sevior's ch m Kate Dalrymple, 3 years, 5 st 7 lbs, dr.

Betting: 4 to 1 each against Valentine, Albany, and Detective, 5 to 1 against the Pearl, 6 to 1 each against Pyrrhus and Saladin.

They were dispatched on their journey to a fair start. Detective led up the straight and past the stand, followed by the Baron, Pearl, Lapdog, Pyrrhus, Albany, and Mermaid in that order. Rounding the turn, The Baron and Lapdog fell back, whilst Saladin, Glencoe, and Valentine got nearer the front, Nimblefoot and another, whose colours we could not make out, but took to be Mermaid, toiling hopelessly in the rear. At the milepost Detective still led, followed by Pyrrhus and the Pearl, Albany, Valentine, and The Baron forming the next rank, and coming up fast. When they reached the Abattoirs, Valentine on the outside and Albany on the inside joined Tait's pair in front, and Misty Morn took fifth place. Running along the training ground Valentine got his nose in front of Pyrrhus, and at the turn for home led by two lengths, Albany second, and Detective third. Valentine maintained his lead to the end, and won, hard held, by four lengths. Albany was second, Detective third, Misty Morn fourth, Pyrrhus fifth, and the Pearl sixth. Time, 3 minutes 10 seconds.

STEEPLECHASE.

Mr. S. Harding's br g Darkie, by Morris Dancer, aged, 10 st 10 lbs (Harding)	1
Bowes' br g Babbler, aged, 10 st 10 lbs (West)	2
J. Morrison's b g Mailboy, aged, 9 st (Adderley)	3
J. Brown's b g Reindeer, aged, 12 st 5 lbs (Johnson)
S. Harding's b g Traveller, aged, 9 st 6 lbs (carried 9 st 9 lbs) (Callanan)
Redfern's b g Rocket, aged, 9st (carried 9 st 6½ lbs) (Fowler)
Watson's br g Typo, aged, 9 st (Byrne)
Bowes' bl g Darkie, aged 9 st 12 lbs (Mason)
J. T. Ryan's br g The Monk, aged, 10 st 10 lbs, dr
Bartlett's g g Vulcan, aged, 10 st 8 lbs, dr

Betting: 3 to 1 each against Harding's Darkie and Reindeer, 4 to 1 against Bowes' Darkie, 5 to 1 against Typo, 8 to 1 against Rocket, 10 to 1 against Mailboy.

Typo was the first to show in front, but soon resigned to Harding's Darkie, who led over the first obstacle, which all cleared in safety, but at the next Rocket ran round. At the shed Harding still led, Typo second, and Bowes' Darkie third, but here Traveller fell. Harding continued in front to the triplet, his horse, who hesitated at first, making a magnificent bound over the palings, where Typo and Reindeer stuck up, and after passing the stand the two Darkies, Babbler, and Mailboy alone were in the race. Harding kept on the even tenor of his way all round the back, Babbler next, followed by his stable companion, and then Mailboy at a long interval. At the Abattoirs Bowes' Darkie gave Babbler the go-by, and went on in hot pursuit of his namesake, but at the fence in the training-ground, opposite the sheds, he fell, and Harding's horse thence came home by himself, Babbler finishing second, a very respectable distance behind, and Mailboy a very bad third. Time, 7 minutes.

Canterbury Stakes, of 10 sovereigns each, half forfeit, with 200 sovereigns added. Two miles and a-half.

Mr. A. Saqui's b h Warrior, by New Warrior, aged, 9 st 10 lbs (Yeomans)	1
T. J. Ryan's bl h Kingfisher, 4 years, 9 st (Tothill)	2
W. Filgate's bl f Contessa, 3 years, 6 st 12 lbs (Grubb) dis.
A. Kennedy's ch h Glencoe, aged, 9 st 13 lbs, dr
T. J. Ryan's b c The Ace, 3 years, 7 st 1 lb, dr.

Betting: 6 to 4 on Warrior, 2 to 1 against Kingfisher, 4 to 1 against Contessa.

Kingfisher made the running for two miles, Warrior going along second, and Contessa third, but at the sheds both Warrior and Contessa passed Mr. Ryan's horse. Warrior then led up the straight, Contessa coming on gamely under the whip. Half way up, the filly collared the old horse, and a good finish resulted in a victory for her by a length; but, on returning to scale, it was found that she was 5½ lbs. short of weight, owing to the boy having lost one of his stirrups and his saddle-cloth. She was accordingly declared distanced, and the race awarded to Warrior. Time, 4 minutes 56 seconds.

T. J. Ryan's b h Kingfisher, 4 years, 9 st, dr.
P. Glenister's b g Koowecrup, 5 years, 9 st 3 lbs, dead

Betting: Even and 6 to 4 against Valentine, 3 to 1 each against The Baron and Detective, 5 to 1 against Tomahawk.

Fairy was first away, followed by Detective and Vagabond, but the last-named got to the front before reaching the Abattoirs, where he was joined by Valentine, who at the sheds came away and thence won easily by three lengths, Detective beating Vagabond on the post by a head for second place. Time, 1 minute 49 seconds. The winner was put up by auction after the race, and bought by Yeomans—we presume for the owner—for £250.

Aldermen Pye, Parker, Smith, Dixon, and Trott. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed. FRESH PRESERVED MEAT.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

SIR,—Now that the agitation concerning fresh preserved meat for the English market is again revived, I think it a proper time to publish the modus operandi for preserving meat for at least six months, under any conditions of atmosphere, for I have proved it by saving a leg of mutton fresh for two months, without any appearance of decay.

It is only necessary to surround the meat with plaster made from common clay, and to prevent its contact with the meat, the joints should be first dashed into warm tallow, or what I think would be better, a coating of ice, which would not dissolve so long as the plaster was moist; and to keep that in a semi-fluid state is a slight difficulty that may be easily overcome, and the meat might be packed in large or small cases made of metal,—perhaps wood will do, but it certainly is not the best material for keeping the plaster moist.

I believe that in hot countries where the inhabitants have been from any cause deprived of salt, it is the practice to bury the meat in the soil to preserve it. Is not this a sufficient hint for solving a difficulty. If only men would consult natural laws, they might sometimes dispense with science to advantage, and obtain large results by a short cut.

One of the principal elements of this great question is cheapness, and I think there is enough clay in the colony, and mills to grind it into plaster, as may be needful. If anyone feels interested enough to pursue the inquiry, an easy means of keeping the clay or plaster from becoming dry may be devised.

I am, Sir, yours, &c.,
W. P. WILSHIRE.

WE are requested to call attention to Bradley, Newton, and Lamb's sale, this day, at their Rooms, Pitt-street, of household furniture, pianofortes, glassware, cedar doors, &c., commencing at 11 o'clock.—ADV.

PRODUCE CIRCULARS.

MORT AND Co.—Wool: Out of 1400 bales of wool catalogued for our last Wednesday's sale, a very large proportion had to be bought in on owners' account in consequence of the slackness of biddings. For the last fortnight there has been a sensible decline in speculative feeling, and it is not too much to say that, just at present, there is more wool offering than buyers are disposed to take at anything like the prices lately current. We can assign no cause for this state of things, but can merely notify the fact. The latest news, according to all former precedent, should have given a stimulus to demand, but so far from this being the case, wool is more difficult of sale now than it was before the improvement reported at the November sales was made public. It rests with the owners to instruct us how to meet a state of things in which we find ourselves not only unable to obtain their reserves, but experience a difficulty in many instances in realizing our own valuation. To owners of greasy wools, we suggest one of two courses, immediate realization at the best price obtainable, or what we urge more strongly, handing over the wool to the fellmongers to be scoured. In the case of washed fleece parcels, we must ask our friends to lower their limits, or give us shipping instructions. Sheepskins were in fair demand at our sale on Wednesday, when we quitted a large number at from 7d to 8¾d per lb. for full woolled; medium and short, 5d to 6d; scoured, 9½d to 12d. Hides were in limited supply, and improved demand at the sale held to-day. Our catalogue did not include any heavy weights. Leather: Parcels of sole, of good tannage, meet ready sale at from 10½d to 11d per lb. Other descriptions are without alteration in recent quotations. Tallow: Shipping parcels were not in such active demand to day, but trade lots were readily quitted at last week's rates. Quotation: Mutton, £36 10s to £37; beef £33 10s to £34 10s; mixed quality, £30 to £34 10s per ton. Wool: Fleece and black, BOB, 1 at 17½d; grease, RB over Rosedale, 22¾ at 10¾d; fleece, Star over H, 2 at 18¾d; ditto, JS over Bureong, 31 at 10d; skirts, ditto, 2 at 12d; fleece, Jellore, 2 at 17¾d; broken, ditto, ditto, 2 at 17¾d; fleece, PB, 27 at 18¾d; grease, UO, 9 at 10¾d; fleece, OH, 12 at 17¾d; pieces, ditto 2 at 9¾d; fleece, J. IRWIN AND Co.—Wool: The principal demand at auction was for washed flocks, the bulk of which was cleared from the catalogues at last month's prices; for greasy parcels the bidding was generally slack. Quotations may be given as follows—Scoured, 18d to 24d; handwashed, 15d to 18d; fleece (washed) superior clips, 20d to 22d; fleece (ditto) fair, 17d to 19d; fleece (ditto) inferior, 14d to 16d; locks, &c., washed, 10d to 15d; fleece (greasy) superior clips, 10d to 11d; fleece (ditto) fair clips, 8½d to 9½d; fleece (ditto) inferior, 7d to 8d; locks, &c., greasy, 3d to 7d. JOHN A. TURNER.—Wool: Business in this market is checked by the disinclination of buyers to give growers' valuations. All parcels submitted without reserve bring full rates, but the bulk of catalogues offered during the week were withdrawn, as the biddings fell short of reserves placed by growers on their clips. Tallow shows an upward tendency, owing to the shortness of supply. Local manufacturers bid freely for all offered. Hides: The quantity at my sale this day was considerable, say 1647, but failed to meet requirements, and prices realized were very satisfactory, showing an advance on last week's rates. Really prime carefully flayed and cured, are sought for. Leather: Sole was in very full supply, but met ready disposal at extremely satisfactory prices, ranging from 10d to 11½d, at which prices I placed 2000 sides. First-class kip in demand at 19¾d to 19½d. Other descriptions firm at previous quotations. STOCK AND STATION REPORTS.

HARRISON, JONES, AND DEVLIN.—Stations: Under this head we have nothing to notice, the Christmas holidays interfering with business a good deal. We have some inquiry for good fattening country lightly stocked, or unstocked, in this colony. Fat Cattle: The numbers coming in are much easier, and prices are likely to rule higher for some time to come; an advance of about 10s per head has already been established. Those now arriving are chiefly in the hands of the trade, which will tend to strengthen the market. The averages have been:—109 head at £5 9s; 91 head at £6 9s; 166 head at £5 5s; 178 head at £6 5s. We sold 91 mixed, H. Bell, at £6 9s. Fat Sheep: Market very fully supplied, coupled with the large numbers near at hand—prices have been kept down; but after this week we look for a slight improvement. We sold 2054 wethers, A. Tange and Co., 8s to 8s 6d; 350 ditto, Christian and Co., 8s 6d to 9s; 80 ditto, S. Scholey, 7s 6d to 7s 9d; 730 ditto, 7s 9d; 40 lambs, A. H. Ranken, 7s 6d to 10s 6d; 20 ditto, J. K. Howe, 10s to 13s 9d; 40 ditto, S. Scholey, 8s to 10s; 29 ditto, 6s to 9s 3d. Store Cattle: We find it impossible to find cattle to supply the requirements of buyers—we have openings for a large number both northward and southward. Store Sheep: A very large demand still exists with but little prospect of satisfying it. Prices are advancing steadily.—January 6.

G. M. PITT.—Fat Cattle: The numbers yarded this week have been barely equal to requirements, and prices are slightly better than last week. Competition for prime quality was very brisk, a few picked pens on Thursday making fully 20s per 100 lbs. The supply to hand for next week is only moderate, and I look for satisfactory prices—say 18s per 100 lbs. for good lots. My sales have been: 158 mixed (T. Cook's), at £6 3s; 154 ditto (G. D. Lane's), at £6; 100 ditto (S. Cox's), at £5 10s 3d; 178 ditto (E. Vickery's), at £6 5s. Fat Sheep: Few transactions have taken place this week, on account of the trade having nearly all the supplies in their own hands. Prime wethers are scarce, and inquired after; best are worth from 9s to 9s 6d; light weights in proportion. I have no sales to report. Store Sheep: I have numerous inquiries for this description of stock and could place from 10 to 20,000 at a satisfactory price. Best wethers, delivered on Liverpool Plains, are worth from 6s to 6s 6d.—January 5.

T. SULLIVAN.—Fat Cattle: The supply has been barely up to requirements, and those offered caused brisk competition, and sold readily at top rates. I quote best pens of prime bullocks £7 to £8; second quality, £6 10s to £7; best picked pens of cows, £5 10s to £6 6s. Fat Sheep: This market has received a fair supply, and prices are looking better. I quote best shorn wethers 8s 6d to 9s.—January 5.

BUTLER AND INGLIS.—The supply to hand this week was shorter, and the market left off firm, with an upward tendency. Quotations—Fat bullocks, £6 to £8 5s; cows, £5 to £6 10s.—Fat Sheep: There were not many to hand this week, and last week's rates were fully maintained.—Milch Cows: There was a fair demand this week, but those sent were mostly inferior. Prices ranged from £3 10s to £7 10s.—Fat Calves: The lot to hand this week were of about average quality. Quotations—14s 6d to 32s 6d.—Fat Lambs: There were not so many forward this week, and anything good sold at satisfactory prices. Quotations, according to quality, 1s to 14s 6d.—Fat Pigs: A moderate supply to hand. Prices from 13s 6d to 52s.—January 5.

BREWSTER AND TREBECK.—Stations: We have had several inquiries for compact sheep stations, but only a small number are being offered at present; owners, no doubt, acting under the impression that really good properties must soon realize higher prices. Cattle stations have also been inquired for, and the scarcity of store cattle must tend to increase the value of those. We have not heard of any sales since the holidays. Store cattle continue scarce. All bullocks are preferred by purchasers, but good mixed lots are also in requisition; the former would realize about 65s. On owners' stations, the price of the latter ranges from 40s to 50s per head. Store Sheep: Good wethers are scarce, but purchasers do not appear disposed to give the rates asked by holders. Prices remain unaltered,—say 6s for large-framed wethers; mixed sheep, 3s 6d to 5s. We have sold, near Rockhampton, a mixed lot of 8000 at 3s 6d per head, cash.—January 5.

EYTERSHANK, EAGLESTONE, AND Co.—Fat Cattle: There has been a good supply for the week—good quality and prices firm. Prime bullocks realized £6 10s to £8 15s.—Fat Sheep: Supply about equal to requirements, and quality generally medium; few heavy weights, 50 lbs. to 52 lbs. wethers, realized 8s to 8s 6d.—Store Stock: A demand will shortly set in for cattle; and there is now difficulty in obtaining a large mob on one station. Buyers must make up their requirements in lots. We quote bullocks at 65s to 70s on stations; cows, 50s to 55s.—Store Sheep are in large demand, and wethers realize readily from 5s 6d to 6s, and for very good quality a trifle more.—January 5.

GEORGE KISS.—The market is poorly supplied now, although there is a fair demand for good stock. The following are some of the sales effected throughout the week:—Kelpie, a thoroughbred horse, for 40 guineas; a superior saddle and harness horse for £30; a match pair for £50; a number of horses, heavy and light, at from £5 to about £10; and others at lower prices. Two lots of horses were sold at Camperdown this week, one on account of Mr. Welch, at prices ranging from £3 10s to £7 5s; the other (a poor lot) at from £1 to £5 5s.—January 5.

SYDNEY LABOUR MARKET.

WILLIAM BROWN.—The labour market is numerously attended by applicants for situations. The large supply of labour enables employers to obtain the hands they require for station, agricultural, and dairy work, as well as for town and suburban employment, with facility. The demand is principally for dairy and domestic couples, strong youths, gardeners, milkmen, grooms, and ordinary labourers. Thoroughly qualified female servants are in request, and readily obtain situations in town and country.—January 5.

MARAVILLA COCOA.—No breakfast table is complete without this delicious beverage.—The GLOBE says, "Various importers and manufacturers have attempted to attain a reputation for their prepared cocoas, but we doubt whether any thorough success has been achieved until Messrs. Taylor, Brothers discovered the extraordinary qualities of 'Maravilla' Cocoa. Adopting their perfect system of preparation to this finest of all species of the Theobroma, they have produced an article which supersedes every other cocoa in the market. Entire solubility, a delicate aroma, and a rare concentration of the purest elements of nutrition distinguish the Maravilla cocoa above all others. For homœpaths and invalids we could not recommend a more agreeable or valuable beverage." Sold in packets only by all grocers, of whom also may be had Taylor, Brothers' Original Homœopathic Cocoa and Soluble Chocolate, Steam Mills, Brick-lane, London, Export Chicory Mills, Bruges, Belgium.—ADV.

THE BRITISH-AUSTRALIAN TELEGRAPH.—"We are pleased to learn," (says the South Australian Advertiser) "that a very reasonable proposition has been made to the Government by the British-Australian Telegraph Company to compensate them for the delay in the opening of the land line of the Anglo-Australian telegraph. As we pointed out a day or two since, the alternatives which by the agreement the company could insist upon were either to take possession of the land line and complete it at our risk, or to carry a land line from Port Darwin across our Northern Territory to Queensland, in order to connect it with the telegraph system of our neighbours. The company, however, have not insisted on either of these alternatives, but have submitted to the Government a proposal that we shall pay 5 per cent. interest on the company's expenditure, the company crediting us with the earnings of the cable until complete communication with Europe and Adelaide shall have been established. The Government has accepted the proposal, and as we learn Mr. Todd estimates that the line will be completed in two or three months, the liability of the colony for interest on the company's outlay is not likely to be very heavy. Our Melbourne telegrams have informed our readers that a proposition has been made by the New South Wales Government for the establishment, at the united cost of the colonies, of a steam express between Port Darwin and Normanton, in order to ensure communication with Europe within a very brief interval ; but we understand that our Government has declined to accede to the request, feeling confident that a horse express will be able to bridge over the interval of line which next month may be left uncompleted, and that ere long the establishment of communication between London and Adelaide will be successfully completed."

RUMOURED DISCOVERY OF LIGNITE IN VICTORIA.—The Ballarat Courier of Saturday says :—"We are in a position to make an important announcement this morning. It seems that last week, while the men were sinking in the Princess Louise shaft at Napoleons, they came across a fine seam of lignite, which they carried down with them for five feet before passing through into the ordinary strata. The find was made at a depth of 130 feet, and competent judges pronounce the lignite sent up to the surface as the finest yet found in the colony. Indeed, it is reported to be almost pure coal. Some of the specimens are now on view at the School of Mines, where persons interested in this discovery will be permitted to inspect them on application to Mr. Philipps. Since the discovery was made the shaft has been slabbed up, and the men are now sinking below in search of what they believe will prove of more value to them ; but ultimately there can be little doubt it will pay the company handsomely to work the lignite bed. This is not the first time that lignite has been found in Ballarat, but, according to competent judges, it is the first time it has been found here in such a perfect state."

A NEW NON-EXPLOSIVE NOTION.—An American journal relates that Mr. Gray discovered a non-explosive illuminating fluid. To show how safe the new compound was, he invited a number of his friends to meet him in his rooms, whither he had brought a barrel of the fluid, which he at once proceeded to stir with a red-hot poker. As he went through the roof of the house, accompanied by his friends, he endeavoured to explain to his nearest compagnon de voyage that the particular fluid in the barrel had too much benzine in it ; but the gentleman said he had an engagement higher up, and could not wait for an explanation. Mr. Gray continued his ascent till he met Jones, who informed him that there was no necessity for him to go up any higher, as everybody was coming down ; so Mr. Gray started back to be with the party. Widow Gray offers for sale the secret for the manufacture of this non-explosive fluid.

ARMIDALE.—The correspondent of the Clarence and Richmond Examiner, writing on December 22, says : —Shearing is over at the greater number of stations, and the harvest has been commenced in right earnest with most wished for harvest weather. The hay crop is heavy and free from rust, while that of the wheat is, perhaps, the best we have ever seen—the yield will be prolific. Rain is much needed to growing crops, such as maize and potatoes, and if we could have a good downfall without its doing injury to ripe crops, every one would rejoice. Grass is getting very scarce and dry on the ridges round the town, and some complaints are being made of the absence of water in the usual places of supply. The early part of the week promised a few thunderstorms, but there are no signs of any now.

EUROPEAN ASSURANCE SOCIETY.—A telegram has appeared in a country journal (says the Melbourne Argus) to the effect that the European Assurance Society "intend relinquishing the guarantee business," and that "it is understood that the Victoria Company (Mr. Henry Miller) offer to take over the policies at the same rates as before." This does not appear to be an exact statement of the case. We find that, by a circular dated December 24, 1871, the European Assurance Society stated that "the society being unable to renew guarantee policies, the premiums would expire when they fell due." There has been no transfer of business, nor could the guarantee policies of one society be easily taken over by another.

THE DIAMONDS OF THE CAPE OF GOOD HOPE.—The Cape Argus of October 19 says :—"As an illustration of the rapid development of the diamond trade, we may here mention the fact that yesterday Messrs. Jones and Co. sold diamonds in Cape Town to the value of upwards of £4000 ; and that that was the third diamond sale held during the present week."

IMPORTATION OF CATTLE.

A NUMBER of gentlemen interested in the importation and breeding of cattle met at the Agricultural Society's Rooms, yesterday afternoon, to consider as to the desirableness of restricting, or prohibiting altogether for a time, the importation of cattle. Mr. J. R. Nowlan, M.L.A., was called upon to preside. There were present—Mr. C. A. Fraser, M.L.A ; Mr. W. R. Campbell, Mr. Pottie (veterinary surgeon), Mr. H. Beit, Mr. C. Lloyd, Mr. J. de V. Lamb, Mr. T. Cadell, Mr. Sloper Cox, Mr. F. Doyle, Mr. P. G. King, Mr. W. J. Dangar, Mr. Lambert, Mr. J. Osborne, M.L.A ; Mr. G. F. Want, and other gentlemen.

The CHAIRMAN stated that a fortnight ago a meeting for the same object as the present one had in view was convened. But owing to a mistake in the advertisement, and the heat of the weather, there was but a small attendance. It was then decided to adjourn for a fortnight. The object for which they were now met was to discuss the foot and mouth disease, and consider the best means to be adopted to prevent its introduction to the colony. It had been suggested by some gentlemen that the most desirable course to pursue would be to urge upon the Government to carry into effect the tenth clause of the Imported Stock Act of 1871, and prohibit the importation of cattle for a certain time, until the disease had run its course in Europe. He might, perhaps, mention that several gentlemen who had some knowledge of the foot and mouth disease had stated that in England it had not been a very fatal disease. But, notwithstanding that but few cattle had died, he learned from the best authority that the disease had caused more loss to stockowners than any other disease, the rinderpest included. If such was the case in England, where the cattle could be properly attended to, it would be impossible to say what would be the consequences if the disease once made its appearance amongst the large herds of this colony. If it once broke out in this colony he was afraid it would be found to be far more fatal than it had been in England. It would not do for the stockowners, therefore, to lightly estimate the disease.

The CHAIRMAN : No ; I understand it affects sheep and pigs, and also human beings.

At the request of several gentlemen present,

Mr. POTTIE entered into an explanation with regard to some recently imported cattle. He said that the ship Parramatta arrived in the harbour on the 30th of November. On the evening of that day he went, in company with the sub-inspector, Mr. Yeo, to examine the cattle. They found, however, that the vessel was anchored in the quarantine ground, and they therefore deferred their visit until the next morning. They examined the cattle about 9 o'clock in the morning. With the exception of three cows, they were all in splendid condition. One of the cows had a cough. He asked for some information from the man in charge respecting the cows, especially Mr. Binney's cow. The man assured him that during the voyage none of the animals had shown the slightest symptom of disease, but that, two days before arriving in Port Jackson, the donkey engine was set going, and the cows were closed in, so as to prevent the steam, &c., getting to them. When the ship was anchored, the screens were taken down, and the cattle were exposed to the wind. The man considered that that was the cause of the cough. He (Mr. Pottie) was of opinion that two of the cows were bad with lung disease. He saw no symptom of anything except coughing and quickness of breathing. Neither of the cows then shewed symptoms of the disease from which they had since suffered. The first was attacked on the 8th of December, and the other on the 16th. Believing that Mr. Binney's cow was suffering from lung disease, he examined her again on the 2nd of December. The cow seemed worse, and he communicated the fact to Mr Binney ; and that gentleman at once ordered that something should be done. After giving this cow some medicine on Monday morning, the 4th December, he noticed that Mr. Taylor's Hereford bull was breathing fast. As cattle on just arriving in the colony were often affected in that way, he did not take much notice of it. On the following morning he visited the place again ; Mr. Binney's cow was somewhat better, but the Hereford bull was worse. He went again in the afternoon of the same day, when he found the bull worse than it was in the morning. He took it upon himself to give the animal some medicine. The bull was lying stretched out on the ground, breathing very hard, and apparently suffering from congestion of the lungs. On lifting his head up he noticed that the animal's nose, on both the outside corners, was sore. He asked the man in charge the cause of the soreness ; and the man stated that whilst the bull was being fed from the ship the animal knocked his nose against the ground. He tried to lead the bull, and the animal again knocked his nose on the ground, covering it with dirt. He thought at the time that that was sufficient to cause the soreness. The next morning the bull fed better. He left word with Mr. Bruce, the inspector of stock, that the bull was ill, and Mr. Bruce gave instructions for the animal to be treated. On Wednesday morning he again went to see the animals. The bull was better, and was breathing naturally. In the afternoon the animal appeared to walk rather lame, so he had the feet pared down, and the ring taken out of the nose. That day there was a slight sore in front of the cleft, but no vesicular eruption. The animal was simply sore on the anterior part of the cleft, and walked a little lame. He dressed the animal's nose with some stuff, and the next morning the animal appeared to be improving fast. But the ship's cow was much worse. She had no soreness about the nose then ; but next morning her nose was sore, notwithstanding the medical treatment she had received in the meantime ; another of the bulls was also bad. Mr. Bruce and Mr. Yeo happened to be there, and he drew their attention to the fact that there was something serious the matter with the animals. At their request he examined and reported upon the cattle. The symptoms exhibited by this last bull were of a very decided character. The animal had fever on Wednesday evening, and on Thursday morning the bull had vesicular eruption on the under part of the lip, and three vesicles on the tongue ; there were also eruptions about the coronet, and the animal walked very lame. It was the opinion of many men that it was impossible to bring the foot and mouth disease from England to this colony, because the disease ran its course in so short a time. The same opinion was held respecting pleuro-pneumonia in 1859, and again in 1861. As regarded pleuro-pneumonia, the idea had turned out to be fallacious. With regard to the disease which broke out in the Quarantine——

Mr. POTTIE : The cattle either received the virus from food that was given them on the last day they were on board ship, or the disease was generated spontaneously on the Quarantine Ground. So far as he had thought over the matter, he was not inclined to favour the supposition that the disease was generated spontaneously. Still there was one circumstance strongly in favour of such a supposition,—that was with regard to the three cattle taken from the same ship the Parramatta, and quarantined at Miller's Point, which had remained perfectly healthy. The idea of a spontaneous generation of the disease was contrary to the opinion held by the best English authorities on the subject. The disease could not be classed as a non-indigenous disease. That was to say, it was a foreign importation, it was not indigenous to Great Britain. There were indigenous diseases—such as scarlatina, aphtha, erysipelas. When cattle were placed in certain circumstances, and were fed with certain kinds of food, some particular kind of disease was sure to follow. But it was denied by British authorities that foot and mouth disease could be so produced. It was therefore looked upon as a non-indigenous disease. If such could be proved to be the case, it would simplify our course of action with regard to it. We could have not only the importation of animals prohibited, but the importation of other articles, such as food, which were likely to bring the virus of the disease to this colony. There was one case he might mention. A bull was being brought out lately by the City of Madras ; but the animal died just before the ship reached this port, and it was thrown overboard. He had a good deal of difficulty in getting information respecting the bull from parties on board. They seemed to be afraid to say anything about it. At length the man in charge of the cattle on board said he would tell the whole facts of the case. The man said that the bull was lame when it was brought on board the ship, but that there were no signs of disease on his feet. In a few days afterwards saliva began to dribble from the animal's mouth, and the bull began to champ his jaws. The feet got worse, the legs swelled very much ; there was a large swelling on the coronet, but it never burst ; and the animal was very sore across the loins. Matter issued from one hock and also from one elbow. These conditions continued in the animal until the vessel was within one day's sail of this port. The animal was ninety-five days at sea. From the symptoms as detailed by the man in charge, there could be no mistake as to the nature of the disease. He thought that the facts respecting this bull were sufficient to show the impossibility of disproving the belief that non-indigenous diseases could be introduced into this colony.

Mr. COX : You believe that the disease may be brought here, even if no animals are brought ?

Mr. POTTIE : Yes, I believe it may.

Mr. COX : Do you believe that the bull knocking his nose on the ground brought on the discharge ?

Mr. POTTIE : It produced blood undoubtedly. But something else existed, unmistakably. There was one feature observable in regard to this bull, which he had never seen mentioned in books. The capillary vessels and outer canthus were injected full of blood. In a few hours the parts became dry and shrivelled, and the outer scales peeled off, leaving a raw surface underneath. But there was no vesicular development.

Mr. FRAZER : Do you think it possible for the symptoms you have described to be produced in cattle by their being landed from a ship, placed in badly ventilated boxes, in hot weather, and being highly fed ?

Mr. POTTIE : I do not think that such symptoms as I have described could be developed by such means. My belief is the disease was given to the cattle through some food that was given them the last day or so they were on board ship.

Mr. LAMB : Is it your opinion that the cattle had foot and mouth disease ?

Mr. POTTIE : I have described their symptoms clearly. I stand in rather an awkward position, and cannot well answer the question. Mr. Stewart saw them, and he says the cattle were suffering from Scotch murrain.

Mr. W. R. CAMPBELL : The hay that was brought out by the City of Madras may be distributed in different parts of the colony by this time ?

Mr. POTTIE : No, I believe it is still on board ship.

Mr. S. COX : Do you think the disease could be produced in this colony by putting cattle into badly ventilated sheds ?

Mr. POTTIE : My opinion is that it could not. But there are authorities who believe it could. There were three gentlemen who visited the cattle when I did—Dr. Cox, Mr. Stewart, V. S., and the Hon. J. B. Wilson—and they were of opinion that the disease was generated spontaneously.

Mr. W. J. DANGAR : From your knowledge of the foot and mouth disease, do you consider that the disease which the cattle in quarantine were suffering from was of a bad kind ?

Mr. POTTIE : It was a mild form of the disease.

Mr. COX : Then it was foot and mouth disease ?

Mr. POTTIE : I am scarcely in a position to answer the question because I have to report to the Minister for Lands. However, the cases connected with the City of Madras, and the Winefred ought to be sufficient to stir the stockowners of the colony to some action.

Mr. H. BEIT thought that what the meeting had to consider was whether it was desirable to ask the Government to take such steps as would prevent the introduction of disease. He did not think it was a matter for their consideration now, whether the cattle lately imported had foot and mouth disease or not. It was very desirable that every safeguard should be used against the introduction of disease into this colony.

Mr. W. R. CAMPBELL asked what was to be done with cattle that were now on their way out from England ?

Mr. BEIT thought they should be killed, and the owners compensated by the Government.

Mr. CAMPBELL did not see why Government should be called upon to compensate the owners. He asked whether the foot and mouth disease lasted for any length of time in an animal ?

Mr. COX said it was believed that the disease was in the blood of the animals, and could be transmitted from generation to generation.

Mr. CAMPBELL thought that, if that were the case, there might now be cattle in the colony which had the virus in them.

Mr. POTTIE pointed out that if the 10th clause of the Imported Stock Act was brought into force, it would only be applicable to cattle brought into the ports. Cattle might still be brought into the colony from the other colonies.

Mr. BEIT moved,—"That this meeting is of opinion that the Government should be urged to enforce the 10th clause of the Imported Stock Act of 1871, by prohibiting the importation into this colony of all animals liable to foot and mouth disease, so long as that disease is known to exist in Europe.

Mr. S. COX seconded the motion.

Mr. W. R. CAMPBELL moved, as an amendment,—"That the Government be urged to carry out the quarantine regulations with regard to cattle, in a sufficiently strict manner as to prevent the introduction of any infectious disease."

Mr. C. A. FRAZER seconded the motion.

The amendment was negatived ; the original motion was put and agreed to.

Mr. J. DE V. LAMB then moved,—"That the following gentlemen act as a deputation to convey the foregoing resolution to the Minister for Lands—Mr. J. R. Nowlan, Mr. H. Beit, Mr. T. Cadell, Mr. W. J. Dangar, and the mover."

Mr. G. F. WANT seconded the motion, which was agreed to.

The meeting then terminated.

WRECK OF THE SUSSEX AT BARWON HEADS.

(From the Argus, January 2.)

THE first news of the wreck of the Sussex came to Melbourne in a telegram from Geelong, which reached Captain Payne, R.N., chief harbour-master, shortly after 5 a.m. yesterday. A mounted trooper at Barwon Heads had, so soon as he became aware of the catastrophe, started across country to Geelong, and there stated that a ship or large barque was ashore and firing rockets. Captain Payne lost no time in communicating with Messrs. Reid, Poole, and Co., tug-steamboat proprietors, and urged them to dispatch a steamer and lighter to Barwon Heads. He also gave instructions that the lifeboat at Queenscliff should be dispatched thither in case there were lives to be saved. The p.s. Challenge, with a lighter, were sent off without delay, and Captain Payne himself followed in the Mystery, which started for Queenscliff at 9 a.m. At the latter place, however, the Challenge was met by the p.s. Titan, laden with the passengers and crew of the Sussex, whom she had just taken off. The Titan had had at daybreak to tow a cutter which had been becalmed near Barwon Heads, and was consequently in a position to see the wreck, towards which she immediately steamed. It was the opinion of Captain Collard that his best plan was to seize this opportunity of getting off the passengers and crew, and thus quit the vessel. The latter was in a highly dangerous position ; she was continually threatened by a tremendous southern swell, and if it came on to blow she must go to pieces. Accordingly, the passengers, the crew, and lastly himself, were taken off in two of the ship's boats. One of the boats of the Titan was at first put into requisition, but she was found too small. The lifeboat came from Queenscliff too late to be of service. The sea was too high and the rollers too dangerous to attempt to get ashore, and so every one was put on board the steamer. They took very little with them. The captain saved his papers, the crew their kits, and the passengers such luggage as they could lay their hands upon. As for the boxes in the hold, the water was, shortly after the ship struck, within two feet of the main deck, so that almost all lost their most valuable effects, which they left on board the ship, together with a general cargo worth £30,000.

How the wreck was allowed to occur appears, according to the accounts which have reached us, to be extremely simple in one sense, but in another to point to the necessity of reform in certain regulations affecting the lights used outside the Heads. Captain Collard's account is simply this :—"We left Plymouth on October 9, and after experiencing a strong westerly wind for a few days we had fine weather which lasted throughout the passage. We made Cape Otway yesterday (Sunday, December 31) at 2 p.m., a strong southerly breeze blowing. We came up along the coast, steering straight for the Heads. About 10 o'clock at night I saw a flash light, which I considered was the Schanck light. [Captain Collard subsequently expressed an opinion that the flash-light he saw must have been that exposed by one of the pilot vessels, and the Corsair and Rip were both outside the Heads that night.] I then thought I had, after running my distance, got too far to the eastward. Shortly after two other lights were reported, but I did not see them. I sent an officer to the masthead to look for them, and he reported them on the port bow. Taking the other for the Schanck light, I assumed these other lights to be the Queenscliff lights. I was about half-way between them. I put the helm starboard to let her go off, when I found the ship in amongst breakers. I at once tried to stay her, there being no room to wear her. I did not like the idea of letting go the anchors where there was so little water. While attempting to stay her she struck, apparently on a shelf of rock, over which, however, she seemed to beat and got into deep water again. She went a little way after this, but as she was making water fast, and evidently gradually settling down, and making a bed for herself as it were, I had the yards squared so as to harden her up on the beach. There was a heavy ground swell, and the ship was unmanageable. The ship bumped innumerable times, but after her first touch, which was certainly upon rocks, she seemed to strike softer as upon sand. She hung on her heel, and her bow went quite before the wind when we squared yards. The breakers were not more than half a mile from the shore, and in daylight next day I could see the men and women on the beach. The beach is a very long and shelving one. I did not attempt to send the passengers ashore, believing that their lives would be needlessly endangered thereby. I thought it preferable to hold on till morning. On the other hand, I thought a boat might live outside the breakers and get help from the pilot cutter or from Queenscliff. Accordingly, I sent away Mr. O'Flaherty, third officer, and a crew of six volunteers, with strict instructions to keep well outside the line of surf. I saw them for half-an-hour after, but then lost sight of them. They have not been heard of since, and I am afraid the poor young fellow departed from my instructions and has been lost, perhaps on the reef close to the Barwon Heads. We waited all night, and at daybreak the Titan steamer saw us and took us off in our own boats. A lifeboat came from Queenscliff, but we had got off the women and children then. It is my opinion that if the weather is moderate a great deal may be saved from the wreck. She lies with the shore east and west, and the southern swell grinds her. With a north wind she would be much better. I think it was high water at 2 a.m. Her head now is about north-half-east. I could not see the Queenscliff lights when we struck." This account is amply corroborated by that of the doctor, Mr. W. Walsh, who has supplied us with the following additional particulars :—"It was after a delightful voyage that we reached Cape Otway at 2 p.m., and looking upon our passage as over, we presented a testimonial to Captain Collard in acknowledgment of his skill and kindness. After we left the Otway the captain was continually on deck, save when he went to dinner, and the first and second officer always. The latter was generally on the maintopgallant yard looking out for lights. Between 9 and 10 p.m., the moon not having risen, and the night being intensely dark and rather hazy, a flashlight on the starboard bow was reported. Every one on deck saw it, and we watched it going in and out. The second mate, who was still aloft, also reported several lights on the port bow. We took them to be the Queenscliff lights. Everything seemed all right, and the blue lights for the pilots were got on deck. About this time we saw a ship on our starboard beam, firing blue lights and a rocket. The second mate had not been long down from aloft when we saw land close to us right ahead. It came upon us suddenly. The captain at once had the helm put hard a-starboard, and the crossjack yard braced up. While that was doing, we struck hard and heavy. I was knocked off my legs, and the cuddy ports being open, the sea broke in through them. The captain then tried to pay her off, and blue lights were fired, and rockets sent up. They were sent up at intervals all through the night. As the ship would not pay off, she was steered direct for land to harden her up. During the night all the passengers got into the cuddy, sitting upon the tables, and waiting anxiously. They were told that their lives were safe, but that their luggage would probably be lost. I certainly thought at times, when the heavy rollers came in, that she would not last the night. Some persons lighted a fire on the beach, which was a great comfort to us, as we knew by it that the ship did not move. From the time of striking, nothing could be more orderly than the scene on board. There was no appearance of excitement, and the crew seemed quiet. When the vessel first lay down she took a strong list to port, but after she settled a bit she straightened herself. I got some men to sound after the ship was hardened up, and I was told the water was four fathoms deep. There might have been less forward. Towards morning the rudder trunk bumped up through the deck." We learn that the doctor was much hurt by a fall received while helping to superintend the departure from the ship of the passengers' boats.

Our last news from the wreck was in a telegram sent to Mr. H. Reid, of Reid, Poole, and Co., by their agent on the spot. It reports the ship as having been greatly strained during the night. The sternpost had given way. The weather was then very fine, and if it continued so a large amount of the cargo might be saved. We learn also that Mr. H. B Lane, Collector of Customs at Geelong, has taken measures to prevent smuggling, and that there are police on the shore opposite the wreck to prevent wrecking. Captain Payne was to remain all last night at Queenscliff, in case the sea calmed and an opportunity of doing something offered itself. The ship, being an old one, is valued at £10,000, but the cargo of soft goods, oilmen's stores, &c., is estimated to be worth £30,000. A vigorous attempt has been made to save the cargo, and in it Messrs. W. P. White and Co., as agents for the ship, and Mr. Moffatt, of the Southern Insurance Company, whose insurances are up to their usual line of £5000, have joined their forces. They engaged the p.s. Warhawk, and she started for the wreck at 10 o'clock last night. Among the passengers were Mr. Moffatt, Mr. T. C. King (as representing W. P. White and Co), Captain Duthie, and a special reporter from this journal. The names of the officers of the Sussex, besides the captain and doctor, are—First officer, Mr. Sladen ; second officer, Mr. Mathias ; third officer, Mr. O'Flaherty ; and fourth officer, Mr. Palmer. The passengers are—Cabin : Mrs. Walsh and family (3) and servant, Mr. Ford, Mr. Holmes. Second and third class : J. G. Hall, Miss Waters, J. Longford, James Sidle, Amy Sidle, Sarah Sidle, W. Lamb, M. Robson and family (4), John Nicholson and family (6), Francis Glaister, Susanna Lewis, Thomas Lewis, Robert Lewis, Grace Arthur, Anne Arthur, Thomas Arthur, Mary Sullivan, Honora Sullivan, G. L. Austin, James Blemire, Thomas Chick, Morris Abrahams, Charles Lewis, John Gay, M. Boldum and family (5), J. Chegwin, Thomas Chegwin, E. Deteite, Joseph Miller, M. Brodsky, W. Cock, G. Draper, James Dalrymple, W. Armstrong, Th. Montague, W. Ligesrick, Fr. Bourne, G. Boyd, W. Walkingham.

Mounted constable Scullin, who, upon hearing of the missing boat from the wreck of the ship Sussex, rode along the beach to the scene of the disaster, has just returned, and reports that after rounding the Barwon Heads, the boat containing the third officer and six seamen, got into the breakers, and capsized. One man, who managed to swim ashore, was conveyed to Geelong by police superintendent Bookey, but was unable to account for the remainder of the crew. The man saved is James Labton. The men lost, besides Mr. O'Flaherty, are named Graham, Clarateo, Samuel, Millinor, and Peast.

THE ANGLO-AUSTRALIAN TELEGRAPH.

WE have received from a correspondent the following particulars relating to the Roper River, and the arrangements for the construction of the North Australian portion of the World Telegraph. The writer dates his letter from Port Darwin, 18th September. Some of the facts to which he refers have since been made known by telegraph, and need not be repeated ; but the details given below will be read with interest.

Every one at Port Darwin is utterly astounded to hear that the Roper River is abandoned, and every one seems to think it will be the cause of another failure ; at least, it is certain as far as completing the wire this year goes. It is deeply to be deplored that such a fatal mistake should have been perpetrated in the face of all that has been said in favour of the Roper River.

Captain Sweet, of the Gulnare, with a party of surveyors, was sent round to examine the river. He found it to be a beautiful one, the bar having fourteen feet on it, and being nothing but sand. There is no sea on, which makes it perfectly safe for vessels of moderate draught. The Gulnare was taken into the river and moored in six fathoms of water, two days after arriving off the bar, drawing nine feet six inches. Captain Sweet, Mr. M'Lachlan, and others have reported very favourably of the Roper river, as a medium for water carriage, and no doubt it must eventually be the chief port of the Northern territory, as it runs one hundred miles into the heart of the country, which is beautifully watered. The Roper is fresh from about twenty miles up from the mouth. Mr. Boss, Mr. Leichardt, Mr. M'Minn, and others, report that some of the very finest land is to be found about there. It is most probable that the seasons are not so hot and oppressive inland, as at Port Darwin, where at present there is scarcely a bucket of water to be got. The cattle have started off many miles away, to get the necessary beverage. Captain Sweet, during his month's stay at the Roper, found it a beautiful climate, with a delicious south-east breeze blowing right up the river, from about 10 a.m., to 7 p.m. Had the Roper River been adopted, it would have saved 220 miles of cartage, and placed all the plant within 100 miles of the very centre of all the work left undone by the contractors, as all the Port Darwin end is finished. It is believed by every one here—from the Government Resident downwards—that had the Roper been adopted and Captain Sweet dispatched there to pilot the vessels and superintend the landing of their cargoes, it is quite possible the wire would have been finished before the close of the year ; that Mr. Patterson's task would have been very easily accomplished, and that he would have secured his bonus of £1500, of which, now, he may never get a cent, but in its stead any amount more of care, anxiety, and difficulty.

To give you an idea of travelling here with fresh landed stock and unacclimatised : several empty teams were sent on to Southport, and it took them eight days to accomplish the journey, being at the rate of nearly five miles per day. The cattle arrive here in a very miserable condition, consequent on their sea voyage, and the excessive heat of the climate, though from observations made on board the vessels every care had been taken to make the poor beasts as comfortable as it was possible for them to be on board a ship in such a climate. As soon as the cattle are landed they are sent forward in order to push on the work, though they need rest and grass for a month or two—though the latter article is not to be had.

The horses appeared to suffer very much less than the cattle, and were landed in excellent condition. Mr. Patterson, it is understood, has divided the working parties into four sections, each having to finish about one hundred and ten miles.

Mr. R. C. Burton left Southport on the 8th September, for the south end of the northern portion of the wire, to which work he had been appointed. He had to travel with his teams five hundred and twenty miles before he arrived at the commencement of his work, and via the Roper River only three hundred miles. Mr. Burton did not expect to reach his section before the 1st of December, and owing to the delay of the arrival of the other vessels, it is not likely any of the other parties will reach their respective sections previous to the above date, and even not this year if they are stuck up with the wet season, thus leaving four hundred and forty miles to be surveyed, poled, and wired complete in one month, say twenty-seven working days, being at the rate of sixteen miles of line per day. During the interval of three months that lapsed between Mr. M'Minn's departure and Mr. Patterson's arrival with the second expedition only thirty miles of wire were suspended (the poling having been done before Mr. M'Minn left), the reason of this infinitesimal quantity of work being done is said to have been caused by the disagreements that arose between the Government Resident and Mr. Burton, the officer in charge after Mr. M'Minn left. The rights of the quarrel are not known, but the issue is clear enough. The Government resident withdrew his boats, so that there was no means of conveying the wire to Southport, and there were no teams left to convey it by land. Thus there were only thirty miles of wire hung instead of over eighty. To explain the reason why the drays were sent empty to Southport, it is necessary to state that the Gulnare was dispatched up the South Arm, about twenty-five miles by water, with a full cargo of wire and stores, in order to give the teams as much rest as possible previous to their long, tedious, and fagging journey through the wilderness, where there is scarcely a blade of green grass to be seen, and where some long stages have to be made for water.

It is observable that Mr. Todd, in his parting speech to the men at Port Adelaide, expatiated on the glorious living which he had provided for them during their "sojourn in the wilderness." This scarcely tallies with the fact that Mr. Patterson prohibited Mr. Burton, of the advance party, from taking a full supply of fresh flour, leaving him to dig up some which was buried at the "Catherine" depot, some 260 miles from here, and which was stated as being almost unfit for human food. There was no alternative for these proceedings, owing to the limited quantity of stock which arrived by the Omeo and the heavy losses that were sustained by the death of many of the beasts, Mr. Patterson deemed it unadvisable to detain the advance party any longer. Many of the bullocks have been drowned, owing to no conveniences for landing them or any of the cargo, as there is no improvement whatever made to facilitate the landing of stock or stores, though there is a pile driving machine here rotting, and plenty of available timber near. All the staff were occupied in building "the residence," which will cost the South Australian people at least £8000, though it has been estimated by competent judges at about £11,000.

The Omeo arrived here on the 24th August, having on board seventy-four bullocks and thirty-nine horses, of these up to date nine bullocks and one horse have died, being twelve per cent. The Antipodes arrived September the 6th, having shipped one hundred bullocks, and of these there died up to date twenty-seven. The Golden Fleece shipped one hundred and sixty-nine bullocks and fifty-one horses, and the Himalaya (both vessels arriving on the thirteenth of September) shipped ninety bullocks and eighty horses, lost up to date from these vessels, seventeen bullocks, or seven per cent. ; and of the Himalaya horses, seven died on the passage, or nine per cent. The Lapu, with sixty head of bullocks, which completes Mr. Patterson's requisition, not yet arrived. The stock that were sent from Sydney are very much superior to the stock sent from Newcastle.

WELCOME TO THE NEW YEAR AT GULGONG.—The description given in the Argus (a local journal) of the musical rejoicings on new year's eve, in the good town of Gulgong, is more suggestive of lunacy than harmony. The proceedings are thus recorded :—"A band of larrikins, well supplied with kerosene tins, a set of broken-winded bagpipes, and a number of tin pots, serenaded the streets from midnight until 4 o'clock. They were, by one publican and another, well supplied with rum. They hooray'd and hooray'd until their throats became too parched to keep up the bawling, and then, after wishing every house, and those in them, we suppose, a happy new year, they quietly retired to their own habitations, without indulging in any mischievous tricks beyond changing a few signs into ludicrous positions."

PRUDENCE AND FORESIGHT.—"Why do you put your dolls by so carefully, Maggie?" "I am keeping them for my children." "But suppose you don't have any children?" "Then they will do for my grandchildren!"

TOTAL DESTRUCTION BY FIRE

OF THE

PRINCE OF WALES THEATRE.

AT half-past 3 this morning the Prince of Wales Theatre was discovered to be on fire. In a very short time the flames burst through the roof, showing that the building must have been on fire some hours before. The damage done is considerable, and up to the time of our going to press the fire was raging furiously.

At about 10 minutes to 5 the southern walls fell out on Brougham-place, destroying four houses. Two firemen are supposed to have been fatally injured.

A light week's business is reported in the stock and share market, owing to the absence of sellers. There were numerous inquiries for bank stock, and sales were made at last week's rates. City were in demand each day at par. Steam shares quiet ; Insurance not very brisk. General would be taken at last week's quotation ; holders ask an advance. United opened at a rise of 1s. 6d. and closed at 6d. less. Peak Downs Copper have been very unsettled, and it is as difficult to find a reason for the course of prices this week as it was when similar fluctuations took place about a month since. On Tuesday they opened at 78s. and closed at 80s., on Wednesday they touched 78s. 6d., which was also the lowest price yesterday. To-day a sale of 1000 was reported at 77s., and soon after another of 50 at 76s. 6d. Coal shares are unaltered, sales confined to Waratah. Kerosene Shale move steadily, and an Act of Incorporation will be applied for shortly. The largest transactions in New South Wales debentures reported for some time took place this week, £40,000 worth having been purchased at 102 to 102½, including a parcel of £17,000 to-day at the lower rate. The course of sales has been : —Banks : Commercial, 60 ; City, 8 ; New South Wales, 36½. Steam : Australasian, 12½. Insurance : United, 7s. 6d., 7s. Mining : Peak Downs, 78s., 79s., 80s., 79s., 78s. 6d., 79s., 77s., 76s. 6d. ; Kerosene Shale, 18s. ; Wallsend Coal, 6½. Gas, 13½. Debentures : New South Wales, 102½ (delivered at Melbourne), 102 ; Australasian Steam, 102.

Messrs. Bradley, Newton, and Lamb held an important sale of refined sugars on account of the Colonial Sugar Company, which attracted the attention of the trade, this morning. About 250 tons were disposed of, at prices ranging from £29 to £36 5s. per ton ; the white sugars were withdrawn. The sale of the stock-in-trade of Messrs. Franck, Brothers, was resumed to-day by Messrs. Stubbs and Co. The catalogue consisted entirely of liquors, which realized the following prices in bond. Lemon Hart's rum, 32 o.p., 3s. ; ditto, 31 o.p., 3s. 3d. ; key geneva, full contents, 10s. 3d. ; Hennessy's pale brandy, in quarter-casks, 6s. 7d. ; Martell's, hogsheads and quarters, 6s. 3d. to 6s. 4d. ; Martell's, dark, in quarters, 5s. 9d. ; ditto, hogsheads and quarters, 6s. 6½d. ; ditto, hogsheads, 6s. 4d. to 6s. 4½d. ; 5 ditto (1869), 6s 6d. ; inferior sherry, 2s. 5d. to 3s. ; Hennessy's case brandy, 25s. 4d. to 25s. 9d. These two sales constitute the bulk of the week's business in the import markets. Stocks have increased very much during the past month, and holders are looking anxiously for an active demand prior to the winter season setting in. Early in the week there was inquiry for sardines, and prices have gone up with a prospect of a further advance. Resin is also held for an improvement on the late advance. Breadstuffs close steady at £13 10s. to £14 for small lots of Adelaide flour, £12 10s. to £13 for Sydney mills, and 6s. 3d. to 6s. 6d. for wheat.

"Our printed circular of the 1st instant, prepared for the Sharston, was, unfortunately, not forwarded by that vessel, in consequence of her having sailed sooner than was expected. We have now only to confirm the remarks then made with regard to the position of our sugar market, merely adding that a very firm feeling continues to prevail, and that during the past week further large transactions in every description have been made at prices showing an advance of 15 cents to 20 cents per 100 lbs on those current before the arrival of last mail. Shipping continues scarce and rates of freight are fully maintained. The only fresh charter for Australia which we have to advise is that of the Caton, to carry 800 tons to Adelaide, at 45s per ton. Breadstuffs remain unchanged, and for the moment there is nothing doing in our market. Clearances since 1st November—1st, Sharston, for Port Phillip Heads, with 450 tons ; 8th, Kassa, for Melbourne, with 880 tons—together, 830 tons. Vessels loading or about to load—Caton, to carry 800 tons to Adelaide, at 45s per ton ; Sarah, to carry 280 tons to Melbourne, on ship's account ; Lorton Vale, to carry 450 tons to Melbourne, at 47s 6d per ton ; Condor to carry 500 tons to Sydney, at 42s 6d per ton ; Lady Belmore, to carry 360 tons to Sydney ; Annie Brown, to carry 130 tons to Port Chalmers, at 67s 6d per ton, and 100 tons to Port Lyttelton, at 70s per ton ; William Cundell, to carry 230 tons to Port Chalmers, at 67s 6d per ton, and 130 tons to Port Lyttelton, at 70s per ton."

Of the Hobart Town markets, the Mercury's mail summary reports :—

The past month has been a moderately active one in commercial circles, and especially so in the export trade. Wool is in good demand, and several auction sales have been held during the month. The several sales were well attended, and the wools submitted realized good prices. At the first sale held on the 8th instant, loose wools were disposed of at prices ranging from 1s 1½d to 1s 4d for washed, and 8½d to 10d for greasy. At subsequent sales, prices ranged from 1s 1d to 1s 4½d for loose washed wools, and 8½d to 10½d for greasy. One lot of superior greasy realized 11½d per lb. Baled wool has been quitted at 1s 5½d per lb. Sheepskins sold at 4½d to 9d per lb. Kangaroo skins sell at 16s to 17s per dozen, and opossum skins at 8s per dozen for black, and 3s 6d to 4s per dozen for grey. Blackwattle bark continues in fair demand for the London market. The quotations are steady at £1 1s to £1 15s for green bark, and £2 17s 6d to £3 7s 6d for chopped. In the green fruit market there is a fair demand both for export and jam making. The quotations are—Raspberries, 3d per lb ; strawberries, 4d per lb. ; black currants, off stalk, 3d, on stalk, 1½d per lb. ; red currants, 1½d per lb. on stalk. Gooseberries are not much inquired for. The prices range—3s per bushel for smooth sorts to 3s 6d and 4s for good rough reds. Cherries sell by retail at 2d to 3d per lb. In breadstuffs business has been limited to the supplying of local requirements, and prices are slightly easier than they were a month ago. Present quotations are £11 10s to £12 per ton for flour, and 5s 3d to 5s 4d per bushel for wheat. The prices of other grains will be found in our list of prices current. In the timber market a good export trade has been done during the month. Local wholesale prices have not varied. The market is fairly supplied with sugar by the arrival of the barque Thomas Brown, from Mauritius, and indirect importations via Melbourne. The St. Lucien, French barque, from the Mauritius, is also expected at an early date. On the 27th instant Messrs. Guesdon and Westbrook offered for sale at the Franklin Wharf, the cargo of sugar ex Thomas Brown, barque, direct from Mauritius, consisting of 4290 bags, and disposed of about 1400 bags at the following rates :—Finest white crystal from £44 10s to £45 per ton ; fine ditto, £44 5s to £44 10s ; fine large grain crystal, £41 10s ; yellow crystals from £41 to £41 10s ; fine grainy yellow counter, £41 to £41 5s ; medium ditto, £36 to £38 10s ; and ration qualities at £34. There was a good attendance of the trade, and some spirited competition took place for some of the lots. The total value of the sale was £4500. Since then about 1500 bags have been quitted by private sale at full rates making more than half the cargo sold.

CORONER'S INQUEST.

DEATH FROM INJURIES ACCIDENTALLY RECEIVED.—Yesterday forenoon the City Coroner held, at his office in Hyde Park, an inquest on the body of a man named Anderson, who was severely injured on Wednesday last by the fall of a bale of wool. Eliza Anderson, wife of deceased, deposed that she resided in Argyle-terrace, Argyle-street ; her husband was thirty-three years of age, and a native of Denmark ; he was a labourer ; they were married eight years and three months ago in Sydney ; he had left no family ; he had been residing in Sydney for the last nine years ; he was a temperate, sober man ; he left home about a quarter to 6 o'clock on last Wednesday morning to go to his work at Marsden's wool stores, where he had first been engaged on Tuesday last ; in consequence of something she heard on last Wednesday morning between the hours of 8 and 9 o'clock witness went to the Infirmary and there saw her husband ; witness asked him how he came to be there, and he said, "It was through some fool of a man—they killed me. I shall never get up again ;" she asked him the name of the man, and he said, "Never mind—he did not do it intentionally ;" he died in the Infirmary on Thursday afternoon at ten minutes past 1 o'clock. James Curry, foreman at Marsden's wool stores, next gave evidence, which though corroborative of that of a man named Bird, who followed, was not so important as Bird's. This witness (George Bird) deposed that he was a labourer employed at Marsden's taking wool from the stores to the steam punt alongside the Circular Quay, near to the North Shore Ferry ; Anderson was employed in the punt receiving wool ; there were two men engaged bringing wool on two trucks from the stores to the wharf ; Curry and witness were on the wharf to roll the wool into the punt as the men required it ; deceased was in the punt with three others receiving the wool from Curry and witness, and stowing it away ; a man named Lyons brought down a "treble" (three bales in one) on a truck ; witness went to help him to get this treble off the truck ; as soon as they pushed off the bale it rolled over and over ; they shoved it from behind ; Lyons brought the truck to the kerb as was the custom ; he lifted up the truck and they then pushed the bale off and it rolled down the slight descent which was there ; witness, who had a hook in his hand, followed the bale and tried to catch it, but did not succeed in stopping it ; seeing that the bale was rolling in the direction of the punt, he sang out to the man in the punt to stand from under ; witness was unable to arrest the progress of the bale and it fell into the punt ; it rolled a distance of twelve feet on an incline ; it appeared to him that the bale was rounder than usual from being bulged in the centre from pressing ; this occasionally happened in pressing wool ; he saw the bale lying on Anderson in the punt ; witness assisted in getting the bale off him, and removing him to the Infirmary. Mr. Markey, house-surgeon at the Sydney Infirmary, deposed that Anderson was received into the Institution, suffering from symptoms which denoted severe injury to the spine ; the lower extremities were paralysed ; he had been immediately attended to ; on Thursday he got much worse, and died in the afternoon ; in his opinion, death had resulted from severe injury to the spine ; a bale of wool weighing 9 cwt., falling from a height of about 8 feet, would probably occasion such an injury. The jury returned a verdict of "death from injuries accidentally received."
